B. &amp; M. REPAIR SHOPS

The Work of Clearing Land in Billerica Progressing Rapidly

The work of clearing and grading the 600 acres of land in Billerica where the large repair shops of the Boston & Maine railroad are to be located is progressing rapidly. A big gang of men is at work grading, and each succeeding day finds a great improvement in the place. What was a dense forest, land covered with a heavy underbrush, and in some places swamp grounds, several months ago, is now rapidly being transformed into a clear and level tract of ground.

The elevations and depressions were very irregular prior to the time that the workmen started to bring the place to grade. There were high hills at some points and swamps in other parts. The hills are being reduced and the earth dumped into the lowlands. Engineer S. P. Collin, who has general charge of the work, has made great progress, and people who have occasion to visit the site from time to time marvel at the wonderful change he has accomplished thus far. He has a gang of about 200 men at work and since the work was started 70,000 yards of material have been removed and at the present time there are about 30 acres of land which have been brought to grade. When the work of clearing the land was started it was expected that it would be necessary to drive piles in what is known as section two, or the middle section, where the buildings are to be located, but in conversation with a representative of The Sun Mr. Collin said that at the present time he doubts if any piling will have to be used. Borings have been made in order to ascertain the quality of earth and the same have been so good that in all probability it will not be necessary to use the piles.

There are three steam shovels in operation which are rapidly eating away the hills. Two of the steam shovels are located in section three, which is adjacent to the main line of the railroad tracks between Lowell and Boston, while the other shovel is in section one, the latter being nearer to Billerica Centre.

There are about 50 ordinary dump-cars in operation in the different sections, but these are rather crude as compared with the 12 dump-cars which are tipped by compressed air. This is the latest type of car and assists materially in the progress of the work.

After the cars deposit their material, what is known as a shoulder or spreader machine, but which looks something like a snowplow, is used for spreading the earth into the lowlands and swampy parts. Just as soon as the earth has been packed in, the portable rails are moved over several feet and the work of filling in progresses.

There are many places on the site where there are small ridges and it would not be practical to go to the expense and bother of constructing special lines of track so in these places horse shovels are used. E. W. Keane, of North Billerica, has 11 two horse shovels at work and the men employed in this special work are making good progress. As the shovels, which are drawn by a pair of horses, approach a high place the nose of the shovel is put into the earth and after the shovel is full the dirt is carted off to lower land.

Clifford L. Oranger, of this city, who has charge of the clearing away of timber is working hard but he has almost completed his contract. He has found a ready market for the greater part of the wood which he cut down, but as yet has not disposed of all of it. The railroad employees have had considerable difficulty in removing stumps of trees and it has been necessary to use 300 pounds of dynamite in order to remove stumps which could not be dug out.

Inasmuch as the Middlesex canal runs across the land in section three it will be necessary to do considerable cut-off work.

The work of erecting a water tank in section three is progressing rapidly it is expected that the structure will be completed before the snow flies.

Owing to the location of the land and the poor accommodations both for travel and meals, the men, the majority of whom belong in Lowell and Billerica, are carried to the site on a special train every morning and are brought back to the same train about 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon.

It is understood that Mrs. Georgianna Nedenau of Worcester has procured land at the corner of High and Rogers street in Billerica where she intends to build a large boarding house for the accommodation of the men who are to work on the erection of the buildings, but as yet there is no sign that the building is to be constructed.

Engineer Collin and his assistants make their headquarters at the old tower house at the junction of High and Rogers streets, where they have their plans, instruments and various other implements necessary for successful work.

FIRE IN A BAKERY

It Was Caused by Hot Coals

A still alarm at 6.12 o'clock last night summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in Parthum's bakery at 462 Bridge street, the fire having been caused by hot coals dropping out of an oven and burning the floor. The blaze was extinguished before much damage was done. The building is owned by M. J. Meagher.

GOVERNOR FOSS

Will Be Asked to Appoint N. D.

Pratt to Superior Court Bench

Nathan D. Pratt for the superior court bench! That's the slogan in legal circles in Lowell today and influential men outside of the legal profession are doing what they can to help the appointment along.

The appointment of Mr. Pratt, one of Lowell's ablest and best known lawyers, to the superior court bench is looked forward to with great confidence by Mr. Pratt's friends.

There are two vacancies on the superior court bench, one caused by the death of Judge Richardson and the other by the promotion of Judge DeCourcy to the supreme court bench. It is generally admitted that Mr. Pratt is well qualified for the office of superior court judge, and the appointment should come to Lowell.

The request for the appointment of Mr. Pratt goes to Governor Foss with strong endorsement, including that of the State Bar association. The Lowell Bar association is strongly in favor of the appointment and the members will put forth their best efforts to secure it.

Mr. Pratt is one of the oldest practitioners in Lowell and is a former city solicitor. For a number of years he was chairman of the board of assessors and was obliged to resign that position to take care of his growing business. He has several times been spoken of as a candidate for congress and has been pressed to offer himself as a candidate for mayor, but refused these honors because he said his business demanded all of his time.

He possesses the judicial mind, and the wide legal experience necessary to qualify him for a position on the bench.

THE DR. SMITH CASE

Trial Will Be Resumed in the Superior Court on Monday

The presentation of the government's case in the trial of Dr. Sumner P. Smith of this city, charged with having performed an illegal operation on Miss Katherine G. Ryan, also of this city, which opened before Judge McLaughlin in the superior court at Cambridge Thursday afternoon, was practically concluded shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

It was agreed between counsel that Miss Ryan became delirious at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 13. The dying declaration was signed by her between 12.45 and 1 o'clock p. m.

The district attorney suspended his examination at this time in order to allow Lowell physicians to testify as to the defendant's reputation. Dr. Leonard G. Hutton was the first witness called and he said he had known Dr. Smith for 25 or 30 years and that the latter's reputation in the community was excellent.

Among the other physicians who testified as to the good character of the defendant were Dr. William A. Johnson, Dr. Ralph W. Parker and Dr. Willis G. Eaton.

Shortly after 1 o'clock court was adjourned till Monday morning.

OLD HAMILTON WALL

The Work of Tearing It Down is Progressing

The work of tearing down the old Hamilton wall in Central street is progressing rapidly under the supervision of Contractor Charles P. Conant, who was awarded the contract for the work. The task of demolishing the wall as well as the high brick chimney is quite an important and dangerous one, but under the direction of Mr. Richardson, foreman for Mr. Conant, all is going smoothly and nicely.

The Hamilton company has a shift of men at work under the direction of Contractor O'Hearn excavating a passageway under the mill building next to Howard's drug store, this to serve as a driveway for the Bradley building.

The men have not as yet started demolishing the chimney, but this work will be begun in a few days, and although it is of a very dangerous nature, it is expected that it will be done without any accident.

As soon as one end of the site is cleared away, the construction of the Bradley building will be started. This building is to measure 291 feet in length and 60 feet deep. It will be two stories high and the first floor will contain 15 stores, 37 feet deep and 15 feet in height. Each store according to plans will have a separate basement.

Employees are also expected to be on the scene. It is needless to say that the affair will be a grand success for George L. Adams and John Sheehan have charge of the arrangements.

GIRL THIEVES

WERE ARRESTED IN A RAID ON NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—In a raid led by Police Captain Coleman, of the Greenpoint avenue station, on the second floor rooms in a dwelling at No. 229 Chatham street, Williamsburg, yesterday there was brought to light a thieves' den for girls which also as alleged had a fagun who had taught the little inmates the art of stealing.

There were fifteen girls in the rooms when the police entered. A wild scramble followed in their attempts to get out. All but five escaped by the rear fire escape. Those who were arrested were Florence Herrick, seventeen years old, of No. 159 Franklin street; Anna Pachner, nineteen years old, of No. 134 North Fourth street; Jeanette Davis, fifteen years old, who refused to give her address, and two cousins, Julia and Juliet McCormick, fourteen and nineteen years old, who told the police they had been abandoned by their parents.

In the rooms were found a large amount of clean wash which had been stolen from clothes lines on roofs. The three younger girls were taken to the shelter of the Children's society, while the other two were arraigned in the Manhattan avenue police court, where at the request of the police, Magistrate Naumoff remanded them. The police are looking for the other girl.

MONEY TO CHARITY

Provisions in the Will of the Late Miss Katherine Ryan

Miss Catherine Ryan, who died September 3, at 15 Sargent street, had been known throughout St. Patrick's parish for many years as a very religious and charitable woman. She was especially devoted to the relief of the poor and of destitute children. She accumulated a considerable sum of money by industry and thrift during the greater part of her life, but the amount which she left by will to charity and a few relatives would have been much larger had she not always been a generous giver to every deserving charity that came within the scope of her knowledge and sympathies.

Miss Ryan left a will bequeathing $5000 to two nieces and one nephew. The will is returnable on September 27th. Her property situated in Broadway and School streets she left to be spent in charity and under the direction of Rev. William O'Brien, P. R. of St. Patrick's church. The property is valued at a little over $4000.

CAUCUS DRAWS NEAR

Candidates Are Now on a Lively Hustle to Catch Votes

Up to this morning one would hardly know that a great state campaign was in progress so quietly have the candidates been working. Today's papers, however, prove the fact that caucus day is high for on nearly every page appears the hopeful visage of and a few words relative to some candidate or another.

The fact that the campaign has been quiet does not indicate that the candidates have not been active, for on the contrary some of them, especially those whose districts include the outlying towns have worked as they never worked before. The new direct nomination law does away with the convention and its pledged and unpledged delegates, some of whom never "stayed put," and requires the candidates to go out and solicit the voter personally and hence the great chasing around to the different country towns. Even the candidates for head of the ticket must be nominated by popular vote which calls for much more personal campaigning from them than they ever experienced before.

OUR LOCAL EXPORTS

To Be Increased By Action of Bureau of Commerce

The department of commerce and labor is making a laudable effort to increase the export trade of the New England industries. It will be remembered that a short time ago Mr. E. A. Brand visited this city to bring before the manufacturers the various ways in which they may increase their export business. The consular reports frequently contain information that would assist manufacturers in securing foreign trade.

Secretary Murphy of the board of trade and Mr. Brand have gotten up a circular to be sent to about 400 manufacturers in this city with a form provided for the purpose of assisting the department in aiding each individual manufacturer. The correspondence is as follows: September 21, 1911. Mr. John H. Murphy, Secretary Board of Trade, Lowell, Mass. Sir—I beg to acknowledge the re-

Supt. Welch Issues Orders to the Proprietors of Coffee Houses

As a result of a conference between Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department and proprietors of coffee houses in the Greek district held last night the "lid" on card playing has been removed and now the proprietors of the coffee houses will be allowed to play cards but if there is any gambling the owner of the place will lose his license.

Recently the police were informed that there was considerable gambling going on in the coffee houses in upper Market street and vicinity and as a result of a complaint made by a Greek it was shown in court that there was gaming in the place in question. The proprietor of the house was fined and his license revoked.

The board then decided to eliminate card playing and gaming in all of the coffee houses and with the intention of bettering conditions an order was issued whereby card playing was prohibited. Then the coffee house proprietors appealed to the board to allow them to have card playing in their places, claiming that if games were not allowed that they could not do any business. The matter was referred to Supt. Welch and after a thorough investigation he decided that he would

THE IMPERIAL FAMILY

Changes Made in the Marriage Regulations

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 23.—The marriage regulations governing the members of the imperial family have been changed in an important particular by a recent imperial decree. Hitherto the statute concerning the imperial family incorporated in the fundamental laws prohibited members of that family from marrying any but persons belonging to a ruling or sovereign house. The only escape from this rule was in having a recourse to a morganatic marriage, involving a permanent estrangement from the imperial court.

The emperor has now lowered the bars for the more remote issue of emperors, granddukes and grandduchesses only are henceforth prohibited from marrying outside reigning houses. As the grandducal title appertains only to grandsons or granddaughters of emperors, in the male line, and to daughters only, in the female line, and not beyond, princesses of the imperial blood, as the more remote issue is called, gain liberty to marry.

It is thought that this change was the case of Princess Tatiana Constantinovna, daughter of Grandduke Constantinovich, and sister of Prince John, who recently married Princess Helena of Serbia.

Princess Tatiana fell in love with a member of the Russian, Prince Bagration-Mukhransky, an intimate friend of her father, Prince Bagration, who is son of a lieutenant general, and bears a family name distinguished by a Russian military award, is highly thought of at court, and the persistence of the young princess was successful in overcoming the statutory obstacle to the romance. The two were married on Sept. 6.

A form of polygamy frequent and officially tolerated in Russia has been cut out of existence by a recent senate interpretation regarding the status of converts to the state church from among a dissident sect, the Old-believers, numbering millions of adherents. The senate rules that Old-believers, who are legally married according to the regulations of their sect, may not contract a new marriage, upon embracing orthodoxy, until their first union is legally dissolved. Under these circumstances, declares the senate, if the young princess was successful in overcoming the statutory obstacle to the romance, the two were married on Sept. 6.

The practice hitherto has been to allow a new marriage, under the circumstances, and consider the old marriage non-valid for orthodox converts, though Old-believer marriages as such were sanctioned by the law of 1871. The effect of the practice was to encourage Old-believers to join the state church, with this particular end in view. In these cases, the old marriage was considered void, and all marital and paternal obligations annulled. Or, and paternal obligations made use of this thodous misinterpretation of the law, thousands of dissident wives, leading in many cases to hardships and to suicide, at last forced the authorities to action.

RUNAWAY BOYS

WERE FOUND IN A HOTEL AT NEWPORT, ME.

NEWPORT, Me., Sept. 23.—The identity of the two boys who have been guests at the Shaw house in this town since last Saturday night has been established.

The boys are Alvin Hall and Charles Ray of Lynn, Mass., and they are members of a party of five boys who left their homes in that city some two weeks ago to see the world. It is understood here that when they left home they had about $200. The boys, according to the local police, went to New York and Montreal, finally settling in Portland, Me., where they were arrested. Three of them landed in Portland from the Canadian city. From Portland, Hall and Ray proceeded north, intending to go hunting in the north woods. They came here last Saturday night, and at the hotel gave their names as Dan and David Hussey. Yesterday the chief of police in Lynn communicated with Chief Heffernan of this town, and it was not long before the correct names of the youngsters were learned.

COLLEGE TEAMS MEET

The Football Season Opened in Report on Action Taken at Convention of State Branch

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—The final scenes in the American sports for 1911 and the opening of the intercollegiate season will begin today with football games on a dozen college grids.

The games today will be between Cornell, Dartmouth and Lohigh, who will get into the running until next Wednesday while Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania play their first game a week from today which is unusually late. In fact the whole football schedule is a week later than last year.

Three of the Maine colleges, Bates, Colby and the University of Maine will play their first games today, while Holy Cross, Lafayette, Carlisle, Gettysburg, Virginia and Ursinus are also on the schedule for their initial tests of strength.

All of these colleges have opponents that have in former years have proven slightly inferior, so that high scores, even with shortened periods are anticipated.

The work of Bates against New Hampshire State, of Holy Cross against Boston college and of Gettysburg against Middletown, will attract the most attention, for a week hence, Bates meets Harvard, Holy Cross plays Yale and Gettysburg wrestles with Pennsylvania.

The game between Ursinus and Steleton is also of interest for two weeks from today and the Quakers are particularly anxious to wipe out last year's defeat.

While the major colleges have no games for today their football representatives will be on the home grids undergoing the hardest kind of training, for nearly all the teams have made late starts this year, with the idea of developing fast men without danger of their going stale.

The opening game of last year remains unchanged and with a better understanding of the rules, good judges of the most popular of intercollegiate sports, expect enormous crowds, especially as the season progresses, and mighty multitudes at its climax in the Harvard and Yale game in the big stadium on the banks of the Charles and at the Army-Navy battle.

The games scheduled for today are as follows:

New Hampshire vs. Bates at Durham. Colby vs. Hobart at Waterville. University of Maine vs. Fort McKinley at Orono.

Massachusetts Agricultural college vs. Rhode Island State Agriculture at Amherst.

Holy Cross vs. Boston college at Worcester.

Connecticut state vs. Rockville at Storrs.

Lafayette vs. Bloomsburg at Easton. Rensselaer vs. Clarkson at Troy. Carlisle vs. Lebanon Valley at Carlisle.
Gettysburg vs. Middletown at Gettysburg.
Ursinus vs. Steleton at Ursinus. Virginia vs. Hampden-Sydney at Charlottesville.

FOOTBALL EXPERTS

ARE HARD AT WORK ON THE NEW RULES

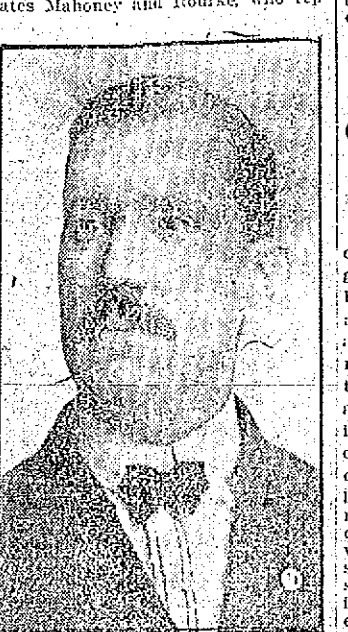

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—That college gridirons with this year stage the most interesting and successful season of football in the history of the sport was the opinion expressed by the high officials of the game here today. That nearly a hundred and fifty coaches and football veterans from all parts of eastern football territory were in New York this morning after holding their annual conference last night for the final interpretation of the rules prior to today's opening games.

The game this year will move along smoother than in 1910," declared Walter Camp, "last year was satisfactory, but there were occasional hitches on account of lack of familiarity with the new code. The coming season, with the few changes that have been made in the playing rules, will find the work of officiating at the game easier and moreover the players will be better versed. Consequently occasions for discussion of points in the rules will be less likely to occur."

For the first time in three seasons, the coaches are not hampered by the necessity of teaching a comparatively new system of attack and defense. "The rules are practically the same as those of last year," declared the Pennsylvania representative, and the thorough drilling of the players last year will furnish a groundwork this year for some elaborate training in new plays.

There is to be no complaint this year in delay in playing officials at the various contests, according to Dr. Mahab of the national board. Most of the assignments of officials, he said, will be decided and published earlier than in previous years and the board expects, as a result to have its appointees accepted without trouble. The meeting of the football men here last night was entirely unimportant. It turned out that most of the misunderstandings regarding the rules were due to mistakes or oversight in editing the code as published a few weeks ago. In the main, Walter Camp and his advisers simply had to give the proper reading to decide the points in conflict.

The Trades & Labor council met in regular session at their hall, 32 Middle street, last night. There was a large attendance and considerable business of importance was transacted. The delegates listened to a lengthy report of the proceedings of the 26th annual convention of the Massachusetts state branch of the American Federation of Labor, which was held at Haverhill. The report was presented by Delegates Mahoney and Bourke, who represented the Trades & Labor council in the annual session.

JOHN J. MAHONEY

represented the Trades & Labor council. Remarks were made by Delegate Anderson of the Molders' union and Delegate Convery of the stage employees.

William E. Sprague of the Street Railway Men's union was re-elected a member of the state branch legislative committee.

Owing to a difference of opinion, the annual list of rollcalls on labor measures presented to the legislature were not printed for distribution at the convention, but the list will be ready for the special meeting of the Trades & Labor council to be held at 32 Middle street Sunday afternoon. ### 18th ANNIVERSARY

Observed by the Merrimack Clothing Co.

The Merrimack Clothing company is observing its 18th anniversary in the gents' clothing business. For a number of years it has also had a large and important department especially arranged for ladies' garments. This mammoth clothing establishment yesterday was most beautiful in appearance. As people approached the building, their eye was immediately attracted by the placards of the 18th grand opening, and more particularly by the beautiful variety of up-to-date garments both for men and women. One of the large show windows was devoted exclusively to ladies' gowns, showing the latest prevailing colors in shades in both dresses and coats. It is certainly worthy of the inspection of every lady in Lowell who appreciates fine garments. The interior of this department, which is exclusively for the ladies, showed an endless variety of beautiful garments for their inspection, and it was inspected by throngs of women.

The gents' clothing department, which, of course, is the main feature of the establishment, is most beautifully decorated with potted plants, ferns and cut flowers which make a very imposing sight. The show windows contained the best of everything in gents' wearing apparel of this season's style both in material and fashion. There was nothing displayed that certainly was not a top-notch, and such as a man who desires to be well dressed could find.

The gents' goods window had a very attractive display and was closely inspected. The people who found their way into the store found, there displayed for their inspection the largest and finest selection of gents' clothing to be seen in New England. This store is beautifully appointed and everything is pleasantly arranged and there are dust proof show cases where goods can be readily seen at a moment. Every detail seems to be arranged for the benefit of the customers. Prices are marked in plain sight, and are remarkably low when quality and style are considered. Space prevents us from going into detail in giving a description of any particular garment. The manager certainly understands his business, and Mr. Mahoney is ably assisted in attending to the wants of the numerous patrons in the best possible manner.

The Merrimack Clothing company started eighteen years ago to cater to the wants of the people of this city and vicinity and each succeeding year has shown a triumph of success, one following the other until today there are hundreds of people who are satisfied that none but correct things can be obtained at this popular clothing house. We wish the Merrimack Clothing company a continued success in their efforts to carry on what they have already got one of the finest clothing establishments north of Boston and equal to anything in New England. The inspection will continue throughout the day and evening, and all are cordially invited to attend.

INSTANTLY KILLED

Child Fell in Front of An Electric Car

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Jas. G. O'Donnell, the 11-year-old son of Michael O'Donnell of 151 Boston street, South Boston, was run over and killed at 6:45 last evening in front of the Metropolitan-North station car in front of his home.
He was playing in the front yard of his home when a playmate called to him from the opposite side of the street to come over. This car, which was running directly in front of the playmate, hit his foot caught on a paving stone and he slipped and fell across the track. The tender and forward right wheel struck him.
Motorman Doyle stopped the car as quickly as possible when he saw the lad fall. The car was backed a little and the boy was taken out and the broken heated father carried it into the house.
Associate Medical Examiner Walters gave permission for the body to remain in the home of Mr. O'Donnell. Dr. David J. McIntyre was called immediately after the accident, but he said the boy had probably died instantly.
The motorman was taken to station 12. There an investigation resulted in the finding that the motorman had the car under control and that the accident was unavoidable. He was then allowed to go.

REFUSED $10,000

TO PERFORM THE ASTOR-FORCE MARRIAGE

ANTIGO, Wis., Sept. 23.—That a Methodist minister of a little church near Newport, R. I., refused a check of $10,000 to perform the marriage ceremony of Col. Astor and Miss Madeleine Talmage Force was the announcement of Bishop John W. Hamilton of New York before the Methodist conference yesterday.

The information was contained in a letter which the bishop read, but he refused to divulge the name of the clergyman, but he is said to be the Rev. Frederick L. Brooks of Little Crompton, R. I.

The minister's self-denial was great, the bishop said, because he was burdened with debts.

When the story leaked out, according to the bishop's informant, a wealthy layman of the Methodist church offered the clergyman an equal sum to recompense him for the loss, but this tender also was refused, the clergyman saying he had done only his duty.

MASKED ROBBERS

HELD UP A CAR AND GOT $35,000 IN GOLD

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 23.—A special from Kalina, Alaska, says: Masked men held up a car on the Iditarod flat tramway, one and a half mile from Fair City, Friday, and stole a strong box containing $35,000 in gold dust, the property of Friend, Lawson & James. Friend was in charge. All the circumstances show that the robbery was carefully planned. A large posse has gone in pursuit.

DOES YOUR COLLAR CHAFE

Almost everyone knows the annoyance of having the neck chafed by a rough or ill-fitting collar. To relieve the irritation quickly and cause the skin to heal, dust on a little Comfort Powder which acts like magic on all skin irritations. Any Denton, trained nurse, Roxbury, Mass., says: "I have always found Comfort Powder very soothing for irritated skin, both of infants and adults." Comfort is the best of all toilet powders. E. S. # STATUE OF PARNELL TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

THE PARNELL STATUE BY THE LATE AUGUSTUS ST. GAUDENS

To Be Unveiled in Dublin By
Hon. John E. Redmond

The bronze statue of Parnell—one of the finest achievements of the great sculptor, Augustus St. Gaudens—has been placed on its pedestal in front of the shaft of Connemara marble, which forms its background. The statue is the last work of the great sculptor. It is a pathetic circumstance that while the work was in progress the sculptor was hovering on the illness which brought him to the grave at a comparatively early age, and while still at the zenith of his powers and accomplishments. His son, Homer St. Gaudens, says he worked on the Parnell statue with zeal, because he declared that he felt in his element with this nationality. "Though, on a second thought," he added that Parnell was only as Irish as himself, which was just half.

The sculptor went to the very greatest trouble over the likeness of Parnell. Curiously enough, there was a lack of portrait material. Parnell had not sat often, and the portraits secured of him had little value from the sculptor's point of view. At last he had resort to caricatures from "Punch," sketches made during the sitting of the "Times" commission—the forgery commission—by Sidney P. Hall, and other sketches by Harry Furness and Sir John Tenniel. "Except for the face, however," his son observes, "the statue hardly represents so much the man of Irish character, the broad sense, since, although Parnell was known to speak poorly, my father portrayed him in the midst of oratory with his thin right arm stretched rigidly from the shoulder." It is pardonable to observe that, however true it may have been at one period that Parnell spoke poorly, the description cannot apply to him through the greater and more important part of his public life. No one spoke more impressively, more powerfully, more copiously when he liked and occasion demanded, and few orators of the first rank have cast a more tyrannical spell over their audience.

All the preliminaries were completed, or almost completed, when a catastrophe befell artist and masterpiece. Parnell was a man of strange fancies, addicted, it might be said, to the most curious superstitions. When that is remembered the story of the accident becomes a coincidence as remarkable probably as any recorded in history. Parnell was buried in Glasnevin cemetery on Oct. 11, 1881. Thirteen years later—on the night of Oct. 11, 1904—the model was destroyed in the studio, as no one then on the place understood how to move it though only a slight catch held it to the floor. Saint Gaudens' loss was not confined to the destruction of the monument meant for Dublin. The seated statue of Lincoln, for the Chicago Lake front, and a statue of Marcus Daly, for Butte, Mont., were also destroyed. All this huge labor had to be commenced again from the very beginning. The unveiling will take place on Oct. 11, where the ceremony will be performed by John E. Redmond.

STOCK MARKET
WAS HEAVY AT THE CLOSE THIS AFTERNOON
Trading slackened in the final hour. Increased strength in Standard Railway Shares. A further weakness of the Industrials.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Under London's lead, where American securities, especially steel issues, were materially higher, the local stock market opened with a moderate resumption of the rally which was in progress at yesterday's close. Initial dealings in United States Steel common consisted of a block of 37,000 shares at a 1 1/4 point advance. The preferred stock opened at a 3/4 point gain, soon advancing to a full point. Union Pacific was up a point and gains of as much, or more, were registered by Missouri Pacific and Pacific Mail. Other active issues, with few exceptions, scored substantial fractional gains. The market made some recessions from top prices soon after the opening.

Heavy liquidation of copper stocks diffused a weak tone through the market and prices relaxed to below yesterday's figures. Amalgamated Copper broke from 52 1/2 to 51 1/2. United States Steel, in which the movement was of a normal character, ran off from 57 1/2 to 55 1/2. Transactions in the first thirty minutes amounted to only 37,000 shares compared with about a quarter of a million for the same period yesterday. Among the active railroad stocks the reaction was not marked aside from Union Pacific, which receded from 160 1/2 to 158 1/2. Minor industrials continued to break in a fashion which indicated that there was an extremely tight market for these stocks. Federal Mining yielded 1 1/2. Lackawanna Steel 5. United States Rubber 2 1/2. Colorado Southern 2 and National Lead 1 1/2. Buying orders were effective in stopping the decline before it took hold and there were some recoveries of a point or so.

The market closed heavy. Trading slackened perceptibly in the final hour, the only noteworthy feature being the increased strength of the standard railway shares and the further weakness of the industrials both Amalgamated Copper and American Smelting falling to lowest prices since 1903. There was no news to account for the sharp declines in these issues other than the mere rumors which hinted at government investigation. Toward the close the entire list moved upwards under the lead of Union Pacific, but the advance was met by liberal offerings which induced prompt reactions. Further unsettlement growing out of the increased weakness in Amalgamated Copper, which declined to 48 1/2, wiped out practically all gains.

FOOTBALL GOSSIP

What the College Elevens Are Doing

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 23.—After ten days of practice in which no attempt was made to teach anything but the rudiments of football the Yale squad had half an hour's hard scrimmage yesterday afternoon. The men were pretty tired when they quit.

In the scrimmage Anderson, the Wisconsin fullback, was the only person to distinguish himself. He started in at fullback on the scrub team. The ball was put in the center of the field and was given to the varsity to try to make a touchdown. The handling of the ball was very loose at first, but finally Thibault made a 30 yard run and Capt. Howe tried a goal from the field at the 15 yard line. The kick was straight, but a gust of wind took it beyond the post and there was no goal. After that the ball was given to Anderson practically all the time and Foss ran the scrub team in good style. After the ball had gone back to the varsity Reilly punted and Anderson carried the ball forty-five yards. He was then put in at fullback on the varsity and played there the remainder of the game. He carried the ball to the 10 yard line and in an end run Reilly took it over.

AT PRINCETON

PRINCETON, Sept. 23.—The practice of the Tiger football squad Thursday afternoon was marked by the first scrimmage of the season, the coaches lining up two teams for light work in the more simple plays. The work was very satisfactory, but the forwards were poor even for such early season work and the backs on both scrub and varsity fumbled frequently. There were a few good gains made by both teams but practically all of these were on end runs; straight rushing through the line proved a failure so far as gaining ground was concerned.

Capt. Hagan devoted more time than usual Thursday afternoon to the punters and kept Lee, Penfield, McCormick and Sawyer reeling off kick after kick while the line at the same time practiced getting down under the ball. Penfield showed the most consistent punting of the afternoon but even his work is far from satisfactory. The backs showed up well, however, in receiving the kicks. Phil Brasher, 96, again had charge of the ends and George 91, coached the backs. The squad also tackled the dummy under the direction of Sandy MacGregor, 11.

HARVARD'S PRACTICE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 23.—Coach Percy Haughton of the Harvard eleven is in no hurry to send his players into actual scrimmages, but already he has begun to put the men very close to actual play. The two sessions of Soldiers Field today were devoted to changes that were important in lineups in the varsity first and second teams, but the work was progressive. The teams were run through plays slowly, the group of varsity coaches instructing the men, both offensive and defensive, on their assignments on attack and their places on defense and some effort was made to get things going more smoothly. The work was an almost constant use of forward passes, most of these, however, being of the shorter, outside off end variety, to the use of which Harvard has been favorable in the past.

The race for quarterback on the varsity team already is in earnest. Foster and Gardner both are keen to replace Waglesworth, who, however, has practiced during the summer and has come back to Cambridge with a proficiency which will be a mean asset to him. The quarterbacks with the end rushes, Smith and Pettit, who doubtless will start as regulars and with Millholland, Howard and O'Brien are beginning to get the forward passes off smoothly.

Smith last year was about the cleverest man on any college team in handling the forward passes. He is coaching the Grinnell team and is anxious to get as good a man for the other side of the line, which will serve to keep an opponent from always despatching Smith as the receiving end of Harvard's passes.

Coaches Haughton, Paul Withington and Leary, with Leothor Withington, the 1910 captain who arrived today, and ex-Capt. Foster of the 1906 team, both of whom will assist in the coaching, kept close to the varsity men. Capt. Fisher also remained out of the line-up again and it plain to see that he will be a master hand in preparing his own team this fall.

CORNELL SQUAD

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 23.—In spite of a heavy downpour of rain the Cornell football squad held a long practice yesterday afternoon. It developed yesterday that two new guards may play on the varsity this year. A few days ago Reed sent Hale to the scrubs and Fred Franklin in his place and yesterday while Munk was running tackle, who played on last year's freshman eleven, was tried on the varsity. He pleased Reed so well that he is to have the position over Delano unless the latter wakes up in a hurry. An important addition to the varsity squad is Harry Underhill, a 1906 captain of the freshman team of two years ago. He was put at fullback yesterday afternoon with Jim O'Connor, last year's left half, in that position, and Collins, the wrestler, at right half. In the morning practice left halfback, Hawkins, right half, Butler, running back, quarterbacks all the time. Lawrence played the ends and Rees and Dwyer also received opportunities. Capt. Munk and Frank O'Rourke were tackles, and Franklin and Munk, guards, with White at center.

DAVERTMOUTH AT WORK
HANOVER, N. H., Sept. 23.—Coach Cavanaugh gave his squad its first scrimmage on Alumni oval yesterday. The results were not very encouraging. The best thing that happened was the announcement that Morey is eligible to play, having worked off his conditions. On the first string the coaches placed Gibson at center, Whitmore and Bennett at guard, Elock and Barends at tackle, Capt. Daley and Dunbar at ends, Horsett at quarter, Snow at fullback and Morey, Hoban and Estop at half. Of these Estop, Gibson and Dunbar showed up the best, while London at full and Dunn at half did the best work in the second string.

EX-PRES. ALFARO IN PANAMA
PANAMA, Sept. 23.—General Alfaro, former president of Ecuador, with his family, arrived here today. They will probably make their home in this city.

GOVERNOR FOSS

May Refuse to Honor Requisition Papers

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—Gov. Foss, it is believed, will refuse today to allow the exhibition of Louis Brooks and Nathan Berigan, Boston labor men wanted in Connecticut on charges of conspiracy to destroy the property of a non-union manufacturer of Holiston, Conn.

Sherman I. Whipple was closeted with the governor for over an hour yesterday and Louis D. Brandeis was consulted previously. It is believed that both rendered an opinion that the governor has optimum powers in the matter of signing requisition papers. Brooks and Berigan are the chairman and business agent, respectively, of the Ladies' Garment Workers' union. They are charged with intimidating the employees of Samuel Shrip of Holiston and threatening to destroy his property. Gov. Baldwin of Connecticut signed them as soon as they reached him several weeks ago.

Following a determined protest from labor circles in Boston and labor organizations all over the state the governor recalled the papers. Gov. Foss, however, gave a hearing to counsel for both sides. The attorney general, following the hearing, gave an opinion to the governor that the requisition papers were legally drawn and that the governor has no alternative but to sign them.

WHITE CLAY PIPE

THAT BORE THE DATE 1692 WAS FOUND

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 23.—A white clay pipe bearing the date 1692 and the inscription "Salem, Mass." was found yesterday six feet deep in the ground here by James Cobb, while he was digging a sewer. The stent was broken. The bowl, elaborately carved, was in the form of an acorn.

BOXING GOSSIP

Packey McFarland, through Whelan Gibson, has practically accepted an offer from the Madison Square Garden to box ten rounds with Matt Wells, the English lightweight champion, in the Garden in New York next month. The weight is fixed at 135, sealing at 3 o'clock. As soon as Wells had finished his scientific bout with Abe Attell Wednesday night he announced that he wanted to try conclusions with McFarland as soon as possible. At first it was supposed that McFarland would insist upon the Fairmont A. C., of which Gibson is the president, but Wells made it clear that he wouldn't agree upon any club outside of the Garden. Then Gibson stated that he would not stand in McFarland's way and the Madison Square A. C. accordingly made an offer that was tentatively accepted in behalf of the Chicago wizzard. Wells said he was ready to sign articles whenever the club so ordered, which, it is believed, will be in a few days.

It is understood that the club will hold out for an agreement that will make these star lightweight box on a percentage instead of under separate guarantees. Those in touch with the fighters said yesterday that McFarland wanted $10,000 for his bout and Wells as much if not more, but that the club officials would not stand for such a proposition. Promoters say a McFarland-Wells bout in the Garden would draw a $10,000 gate, as it would be the biggest attraction that could be arranged. If the men received 30 per cent. of the gross, equally divided, they would cut up $30,000, it was shown, and their representatives, after a long discussion yesterday, seemed inclined to regard the percentage plan with favor.

By outpointing Attell the English champion showed wonderful science. Attell, always a great boxer, was there with his usual skill, but Wells simply outclassed him. The Briton was so shy that he actually bewildered the featherweight champion, who under the circumstances wasn't disgraced by a long shot. Attell, going into the ring weighed 121-2 pounds, while the English champion carried at least 135, about sixteen pounds more than the American. It was this difference in bulk and Wells' unexpected cleverness and speed that made Attell look slow in comparison. Furthermore, there was reason to believe that Attell, having recently recovered from a broken shoulder, was afraid to take too many desperate chances with it, for a reputation of the injury would have meant six months more of idleness and an empty pocketbook.

"I said I'd give a good account of myself, and I think I did," said Attell to the Sun man yesterday. "I tried to make Wells mix it with me, but he worked it a lot about boxing."

With an unbroken string of victories since arriving here, Wells now looks up as a real champion. Looking over the lightweight division only three men appear to have chances to beat him in short bouts. Ad Wolgast, Packey McFarland and Freddie Welsh, Wells won his title by outpointing Welsh in a round bout, and it is not a mystery how he did it. Wolgast doesn't appear anxious for a match with Wells until some time next winter, so that McFarland alone is the Englishman's most dangerous rival. McFarland will meet Wells at the latter's weight, while Wolgast will not. If anybody can trip this remarkably clever Englishman it is McFarland, who is conceded by many to be the best boxer in the ring, bar none. McFarland was ready to box Wolgast in Milwaukee at 133 at 3, but since the authorities interfered Wolgast has broken training and has shown no desire to renew hostilities. McFarland therefore is the logical opponent for Wells, and when they come together here there'll be plenty of excitement.

William Newman of the Polo A. A., New York in Harlem has secured control of Carl Morris, the Oklahoma giant. Newman has changed Morris' plans in a radical manner. He will not allow the big fellow to return to Oklahoma, it seems, but will begin training him all over again at his Harlem gym. Newman is a veteran trainer of boxers and athletes. When he saw Morris perform with Jim Flynn the other night he was astonished to note that the giant had not been properly seasoned. When Morris' remarkable stamina and gameness were apparent Newman promptly decided to hunt up Mr. Ufer and secure a contract. The Twenty-fourth C. C. New York arranged a match Thursday between K. O. Brown and Tommy Ginty of Scranton. The date was fixed for Oct. 3 and the men will weigh 133 at 3. Brown landed Ginty in a six round bout in Scranton several months ago and the latter's followers insisted that he won. Brown laughed at them. He is a broken training and has been since and wants to show the latter up. It's a grudge scrap.

DARING BURGLARS

Entered a House in Moody Street Yesterday

The home of Mrs. Joseph Brunelle, 467 Moody street, was entered and ransacked some time yesterday forenoon and the robber or robbers got away with a fur set valued at $25.

Mr. and Mrs. Brunelle, who live on the second floor, left their home at 6 o'clock this morning going to their work, and when they returned for dinner at noon, they discovered upon entering the house that their flat had been visited by some unknown people and that a set of furs valued at $25, the property of Mrs. Brunelle, were missing.

Without further investigation, Mrs. Brunelle rushed to police headquarters and reported the matter to the police, who are on the lookout for the intruders.

This robbery was committed in broad daylight and in a thickly populated district and the robber or robbers had to do quite a stunt to enter the flat, for he or they entered through a window in the rear of the house, and as this flat is situated on the second floor, the task was a rather difficult one.

To gain access to this window, the party climbed a flight of stairs in the house and passing through the hall window, reached the other window and presumably pulled himself through.

The bureau drawers were turned inside out and the contents of a couple of trunks were scattered on the floor. Mrs. Brunelle is not sure whether the intruders got away with any money as there was some in the house and when questioned on the matter said she had not as yet investigated.

The exhibition of films dealing with interesting subjects takes place under the auspices of the society for the spread of popular education, which possesses an extensive collection and is subsidized by the various local educational authorities.

The pictures have been found to make such a lasting impression on the scholars that they are being called for in constantly increasing numbers, and the society has decided to found a circulating library of films to be sent to each school in rotation. Magic lantern slides are also in great demand for the same purpose, and the society, which has branches in every district of the empire, possesses 179 series comprising over 11,000 pictures on various subjects which are constantly in circulation.

Two hundred thousand socialists of Berlin marched out to Treptow, covering from five to eight miles, according to the section of Berlin in which they live, and stood for several hours under a broiling sun to show their opposition to any further settlement of the Moroccan negotiations. Four hundred and fifty heat prostrations requiring medical attendance were reported.

The question at issue was scarcely a vital one, as a peaceful issue of the negotiations was generally anticipated, but the order of the day was implicitly obeyed by the socialist army, and the thousands of workmen cheerfully gave up their weekly holiday and endured great discomfort to show their loyalty to their party and its leaders. Speakers' stands were erected at a dozen points, and from these a resolution of protest was proposed and, as is always the case at socialist demonstrations, unanimously adopted.

This absolute discipline and loyalty of the socialist followers attracted scarcely any comment in the Berlin papers, so frequently has it been manifested, and political opponents have no hope of the socialist army, and the breaking down in the coming Reichstag elections in spite of the death or aging weakness of some of the prominent leaders.

The power of the Prussian Agrarian or "uncrowned king," Dr. von Heydebrand, has again been strikingly illustrated by two speeches of Emperor William, who, high placed as he is, nevertheless finds it necessary to pay close ear to the music of the landholding party which has long dictated the chief policy of the empire.

His majesty's speech at Hamburg, in which he referred to the necessity of strengthening the German navy, was mainly devoted to a eulogy of commerce, which he described as the breadth of the national organism, without which it would be but a lifeless corpse. The Agrarians felt themselves affronted by this exaltation of commerce, though nothing has been said or insinuated in disparagement of agriculture, and a campaign of such vigor was started in the Agrarian press that his majesty's few days' visit at Steinhilber, to pay an equally high tribute to the virtues and importance of the biologic life.

After much discussion of the Hamburg speech, the German press has concluded that the reference to strengthening the navy did not portend any change in the German naval program, as supposed abroad, but only emphasized the importance of keeping up the present rate of progress in building up a strong sea force.

Emperor William, in spite of the great developments of wireless telegraphy, still makes extensive use of personal messengers to convey his desires to his secretaries of state and diplomats when he is in foreign parts. As a matter of fact, on his recent northern trip he gave orders that only the most pressing matters of state were to be communicated to him by wire, owing to the danger of messages connected with the complicated Moroccan negotiations being picked up by unauthorized persons.

The messengers to convey the imperial messages and state documents are specially selected army officers, who before being recommended for their post of trust must provide the fullest evidence of their fidelity and trustworthiness. They are first chosen by their immediate commander, who, after years of personal contact and observation, picks them out as being possessed of rapid decision, fearless energy, bravery and hard-riding powers. Then they are attached for a period to various embassies abroad, where they are kept under surveillance, and finally they come into close personal attendance on the emperor.

Attendance on the emperor is practically an end for them must be prepared at a moment's notice to leave for any part of the world by the quickest route. They are entitled to claim the best separate cabin on any German steamer and an entire compartment on any railroad train on making known to the officials in charge that they are on an imperial mission. Their baggage is not liable to customs inspection at any frontier, as they have the diplomatic privilege. They carry documents to the various embassies to the foreign office in a leather satchel, but letters from the emperor to a foreign sovereign or from a foreign prince to the emperor are always conveyed in a secret hiding place on their person.

The importance of the moving pictures as an educational factor has been recognized to such an extent in Germany that they are now largely utilized in the elementary and continuation schools in town and country for instructional purposes. The exhibition of films dealing with interesting subjects takes place under the auspices of the society for the spread of popular education, which possesses an extensive collection and is subsidized by the various local educational authorities.

As a matter of fact, on his recent northern trip he gave orders that only the most pressing matters of state were to be communicated to him by wire, owing to the danger of messages connected with the complicated Moroccan negotiations being picked up by unauthorized persons.

The messengers to convey the imperial messages and state documents are specially selected army officers, who before being recommended for their post of trust must provide the fullest evidence of their fidelity and trustworthiness. They are first chosen by their immediate commander, who, after years of personal contact and observation, picks them out as being possessed of rapid decision, fearless energy, bravery and hard-riding powers. Then they are attached for a period to various embassies abroad, where they are kept under surveillance, and finally they come into close personal attendance on the emperor.

Attendance on the emperor is practically an end for them must be prepared at a moment's notice to leave for any part of the world by the quickest route. They are entitled to claim the best separate cabin on any German steamer and an entire compartment on any railroad train on making known to the officials in charge that they are on an imperial mission. Their baggage is not liable to customs inspection at any frontier, as they have the diplomatic privilege. They carry documents to the various embassies to the foreign office in a leather satchel, but letters from the emperor to a foreign sovereign or from a foreign prince to the emperor are always conveyed in a secret hiding place on their person.

The importance of the moving pictures as an educational factor has been recognized to such an extent in Germany that they are now largely utilized in the elementary and continuation schools in town and country for instructional purposes. The exhibition of films dealing with interesting subjects takes place under the auspices of the society for the spread of popular education, which possesses an extensive collection and is subsidized by the various local educational authorities.

The pictures have been found to make such a lasting impression on the scholars that they are being called for in constantly increasing numbers, and the society has decided to found a circulating library of films to be sent to each school in rotation. Magic lantern slides are also in great demand for the same purpose, and the society, which has branches in every district of the empire, possesses 179 series comprising over 11,000 pictures on various subjects which are constantly in circulation.

Two hundred thousand socialists of Berlin marched out to Treptow, covering from five to eight miles, according to the section of Berlin in which they live, and stood for several hours under a broiling sun to show their opposition to any further settlement of the Moroccan negotiations. Four hundred and fifty heat prostrations requiring medical attendance were reported.

The question at issue was scarcely a vital one, as a peaceful issue of the negotiations was generally anticipated, but the order of the day was implicitly obeyed by the socialist army, and the thousands of workmen cheerfully gave up their weekly holiday and endured great discomfort to show their loyalty to their party and its leaders. Speakers' stands were erected at a dozen points, and from these a resolution of protest was proposed and, as is always the case at socialist demonstrations, unanimously adopted.

This absolute discipline and loyalty of the socialist followers attracted scarcely any comment in the Berlin papers, so frequently has it been manifested, and political opponents have no hope of the socialist army, and the breaking down in the coming Reichstag elections in spite of the death or aging weakness of some of the prominent leaders.

The power of the Prussian Agrarian or "uncrowned king," Dr. von Heydebrand, has again been strikingly illustrated by two speeches of Emperor William, who, high placed as he is, nevertheless finds it necessary to pay close ear to the music of the landholding party which has long dictated the chief policy of the empire.

His majesty's speech at Hamburg, in which he referred to the necessity of strengthening the German navy, was mainly devoted to a eulogy of commerce, which he described as the breadth of the national organism, without which it would be but a lifeless corpse. The Agrarians felt themselves affronted by this exaltation of commerce, though nothing has been said or insinuated in disparagement of agriculture, and a campaign of such vigor was started in the Agrarian press that his majesty's few days' visit at Steinhilber, to pay an equally high tribute to the virtues and importance of the biologic life.

After much discussion of the Hamburg speech, the German press has concluded that the reference to strengthening the navy did not portend any change in the German naval program, as supposed abroad, but only emphasized the importance of keeping up the present rate of progress in building up a strong sea force.

Emperor William, in spite of the great developments of wireless telegraphy, still makes extensive use of personal messengers to convey his desires to his secretaries of state and diplomats when he is in foreign parts. As a matter of fact, on his recent northern trip he gave orders that only the most pressing matters of state were to be communicated to him by wire, owing to the danger of messages connected with the complicated Moroccan negotiations being picked up by unauthorized persons.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

Earl Jr., Gave His Rivals a Great Trimming at Detroit

DETROIT, Sept. 23.—Earl Jr., the iron-sided bread-winner of the Cox stable gave his two rivals a bad beating at the state fair grand circuit races yesterday. There had been so much dispute as to the relative merits of this gray fellow, Evelyn W. and Independence Boy that an enormous crowd was on hand.

It may have been that the others could not negotiate the heavy going, but Earl Jr. tripped through it, the last half of the final heat in 1.01, and winning each mile under restraint.

Local peers fought it out for honors in the 2.12 class race, and there was a bit of scandal in the 2.20 trot. The track dried in spots, but the inside half of the home stretch was muddy in the early afternoon, and automobiles were pressed into service to iron it out while a light harrow blitted to another motor car stirred up the surface.

In the first event the pole horse scored in the middle of the track, but an hour later they were tramping along on the inside rail.

As racing did not start till 2.55 o'clock, it was impossible to clear up the card for the day, so it will be resumed at 1 o'clock tomorrow, and as there are five new races and one unfinished, the week-end promises to be notable.

Earl Jr. Second Choice
The free for all pace was the class of the card. It proved to be somewhat of a speculative affair, and Evelyn W. sold for $30, Earl Jr. $25, Independence Boy $10 and Ess H. Kay $5. Away to a good start, Independence Boy, from the inside position, led Ess H. Kay and Earl around the bend.

Evelyn W. moved up as they reached the backstretch, and when past the three-eighths, Ess H. Kay broke, Evelyn W. leading Independence Boy by a neck at the half with Earl right on top of them. They had stepped the half in 1.05, and then they began to hustle, the third quarter being in 30 seconds, with Evelyn and Independence Boy fighting it out and Earl within striking distance.

Cox came down the outside with Earl Jr. and overhauled the others at the seven-eighths, he won alone, the mile in 2.04, being splendid for the condition of the track.

Wins Under a Pull
In the second heat Earl Jr. went out to the front with Evelyn, Independence Boy and Ess H. Kay in the order behind him at the quarter. They were lengths apart at the half in 1.05 and lengths apart at the three-quarters. They were lengths apart at the half in 1.05 and lengths apart at the three-quarters. They were lengths apart at the half in 1.05 and lengths apart at the three-quarters.

The unfinished 2.07 pace, in which Sunny Jim had won the first heat on Wednesday and Rollins the second, was quickly despatched. The crowd was in wrong, picking Sunny Jim at $25, while Rollins brought $17 and the field about the same amount.

Shaughran showed them the way with Rollins trailing and when the stretch was reached Loomis pulled Rollins out and he paced away from the rest as though none of them were trying. Sunny Jim stepping up to second.

The Liar Proves Fast
The 2.12 pace had a small field of five and the gray Stephen A. was picked as the best mudder, bringing $25, while Outline sold at $21, Dora J. at $7 and the field, with the two local horses, The Liar and Mabel J., at $7. Carres took The Liar right to the front and his lead increased to four lengths at the half, Mabel J. came after him in the stretch and Carres and Cunningham were busy with their whips, The Liar winning by two lengths.

Mabel J. hooked onto The Liar from the start of the second heat and while she never headed the stallion, The Liar drew away at the head of the stretch, but again Mabel came and the teamsters went to the bat, while the upstate folks enthused and The Liar won by a length.

If Stephen A. and Outline ever were going to come to light now was the time and Stephen went out to race with The Liar in the third heat. The Liar led by half a length along the back stretch, but Stephen faded away at the three-quarters and Outline took up the stretch chase. The Liar took a good walloping and landed the heat and race.

Driver Under Suspicion
The 2.20 trot was not so easily disposed of, as four heats were raced and the finish went over until tomorrow. Lady Willow sold for $25 and the field for $16. Dr. Coy went out to the front in the first heat and led Lady Willow by a neck at the half.

Before the last turn was reached Geers had taken the lead with Lady Willow and she stayed there with "Pop" looking back in the last part. Helen Wilstar was an easy second and the judges did not like the drive. Fitchley put up with her, but gave him another chance.

Dr. Coy and Pretoria Mc were about even terms at the half in the next heat, with Lady Willow close, and on the turn Geers moved up to second with her, coming down the outside of the stretch and winning handily. Helen Wilstar was again second and was not urged any in the final eighth.

Derrick for Richley

When they came out for the third heat, the judges yanked Richley and put Ed Benyon up behind Helen Wilstar and after trailing Clodagh for a part of the way, Benyon let his mare step into the lead. Geers was a little farther back in the stretch, when he started his drive and, although Lady Willow came very fast, and to many looked to win, Helen Wilstar lasted long enough to beat her a head.

Helen Wilstar was out in front all the way in the fourth heat, which was trotted in growing dusk. Lady Willow was lapped on her along the back stretch, dropped back a little on the turn and came again in the last part. Both men went to a drive and Helen Wilstar won by a length. The summary:

THE PRINCETON ELEVEN

HARVARD MEN ARE BUSY

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 23.—Harvard is losing no time this fall in getting down to real football now that the men are beginning to round into good physical condition. As yet there has been no outside kicking at Harvard, but the forward pass has come in for much use. Potter, Gardiner and Wiggin are beginning to show proficiency, while "Bud" Smith remains among the ends for handling the passer. Now that Fellon is settled for an end he will be worked hard in order that he may be used with Smith for forward pass maneuvers. Wigginworth has improved since last fall and has developed as a drop kicker. He made one pretty goal recently. Captain Fisher still remains out of the lineup, and possibly not until the game will it be known finally whether he will start as tackle as he wishes to do, or whether the coaches will convince him to remain at guard, where he has played two years and where last fall he was an All American choice.

PLAYERS ARE INJURED

First Accidents of the Football Season

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—School football in Greater Boston claimed its first victims in serious accidents yesterday. C. E. Dean, quarterback of the Woburn team, suffered a fracture of the femur bone in the game at Milton with Milton High. In the last period Dean, running with the ball, broke around Milton's right end for a 10-yard gain. Gustafson right end for Milton, dashed after the little quarterback and brought him down after a hard tackle.

Dean was unable to rise. The officials and coaches worked over the player, but the injury required a doctor's attendance. He was carried to the office of Dr. C. A. Roe, who, after dressing the injury, ordered him taken in an automobile to the Choate hospital in Woburn. Dr. Roe stated that Dean would be out of the game for the rest of the season.

During a rudimentary drill at the English High practice O. R. Beauvais, a promising candidate, suffered a fracture of the shoulder blade as a result of a poor fall on the ball. He will be unable to play for four weeks.

LOWELL WINS AGAIN

Fitchburg Defeated in Close Game By the Gray Boys

FITCHBURG, Sept. 23.—Lowell took the second game of the season from Fitchburg yesterday afternoon, 9 to 8. Bost. of Uden pitched a good game, but received ragged support. Wolfgang, who pitched the first game, was in good form, but Warwick, who relieved him, was wild and was hit hard. The hitting of McKenna and the holding of Moulton were features. The score:

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 23.—In the had heard so much about Yale that football squad for this fall it looks as if he decided to come east and try for it. Yale has a wonder in Anderson, the team. He is a hard player, and the weather was here last year, but this is shown even in the simple early practice. Though he plays behind the line, he reminds one very much of the early game of football. Close followers of the game at Yale think the university has a find in him. He may be placed at fullback. Anderson is short, stocky and heavy, but there is no fat on him.

Anderson played on Wisconsin, but

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

According to ex-President White of Cornell University, he is authority for the statement that ten years ago there were 117 murders annually to the million in the United States. Today the number is 126, while in Canada there are but seven murders to the million each year. That is a remarkable difference if it be true, but it can be explained by the greater density of population in this country together with the cosmopolitan character of our population; a feature that is not duplicated in Canada.

THE PRICE OF MILK

As usual the squabble over the price of milk in Boston winds up by the decision of the producers to increase the price to the extent of two cents per can. This may seem trifling, but it will be made the pretext for a much greater increase by the retailers. This action will have an effect similar to that usually following the announcement of an increase in the price of meat. The advance in the wholesale price may be trifling but it usually has a greater effect on the retail price. Some years ago there was a coal strike in Pennsylvania and after a great deal of trouble it was settled with the understanding that the price of coal would be advanced. The price was advanced and it has never since been reduced to the former figure. We presume that the recent increase in the price of milk will similarly be made permanent.

THE COMING PRIMARIES

The primary elections to be held throughout the state next Tuesday will be conducted under the new primary election law and should, therefore, bring out a larger attendance than usual. In spite of last year's enrolment the voters can select their ticket at the coming primaries without question. Apart from this there should be sufficient interest in the candidates seeking nomination to bring out a large attendance of the voters. It is fully as important for voters to exercise the franchise in the selection of candidates at the primaries as on election day. If the wrong men be nominated at the primaries the mistake cannot afterwards be corrected. From time to time there are various complaints against machine rule and the charge is made that the politicians run the caucuses. This is true only when a vast number of the voters fail to take sufficient interest in politics. It is the duty of every voter to go to the polls next Tuesday and register his choice for the nominees of his party ticket. It is by that means that the best men can be nominated and the undesirables driven to the rear.

SHALL WE HAVE VOTING MACHINES?

A question to be on the ballot at the state election will require every voter to say whether he will favor an amendment to the constitution so as to permit the use of voting machines at elections. The voting machine if reasonably perfect would greatly facilitate the counting of votes and would prevent such confusion as has been witnessed in the state of Maine during the past week for the computation of the vote cast at the election. The time will come when the present bungling system of counting will be abolished and the voting machine will do the work.

It was supposed that the law permitted the use of voting machines in this state and for a time a supreme court decision sanctioned their use but this decision was recently reversed and now the machines cannot be used unless the constitution be so amended as to provide for them. It seems that everybody should favor the change as in the line of progress. The voting machine is bound to come.

THE EFFECT OF DEFEATING RECIPROCITY

Sir Wilfrid Laurier went down in defeat in his fight for reciprocity before the combined forces of fraud, prejudice, hypocrisy and humbug. Mr. Laurier need not be ashamed of the result. He did all that any man could do to convince his deluded countrymen that the progress and welfare of Canada would be promoted by adopting the reciprocity pact.

But they disregarded Laurier, and listened to the men who circulated the annexation bogey in the interests of the American trusts. Speaker Champ Clark is largely responsible for first starting the annexation scare by a remark intended for a joke but taken up by the opponents of reciprocity, aggravated and treated as a threat against the independence of Canada. The Canadian manufacturers and doubtless the American also, opposed reciprocity by every means in their power, playing upon the prejudices of the people in regard to annexation and the claim that the American trusts would flood Canada with their goods so that the price of farm produce would be greatly reduced. The British Tories also assisted and there is reason to believe that they furnished financial aid to their Canadian brethren. They had used the annexation scare in the British parliament to confound the liberals but the brand of liberal in England is not so easily gulled as the Canadian article.

The question is asked: "Is reciprocity dead?" No, it is not dead; but the next appeal for it is not likely to come from the United States. Canada will get plenty of time to think it over and she may find the duties raised instead of lowered upon her exports to this country. The indirect results of the defeat of reciprocity will be far reaching. In the first place it will be a severe blow to the candidacy of President Taft. That of course will not cause any regret among democrats and it may help to elect a democratic president of the United States. In this there may be some compensation for the tariff reforms. The result will also, in all probability, cause the defeat of the arbitration treaty with England. That treaty awaits ratification by the United States senate and the opposition that was then shown to the treaty will be intensified by the defeat of reciprocity in Canada. It is safe to say that the peace treaty with England is fully as dead as the reciprocity pact. The United States can get along without reciprocity and also without any entangling alliance with England. Canada had an opportunity to advance her own trade and commerce as well as that of New England. She has rejected it and the loss is mainly her own. She has been duped by unscrupulous leaders who posed as her friends, but she will realize the gravity of her mistake in due time.

APPLE BUTTER MAKING TIME

SEEN AND HEARD

Elise M. Oates of Natick, Mass., widow of the late John W. Oates, a well known veteran has presented a life sized picture of her husband to the city of Lowell to be hung in Memorial hall. With the picture goes the sword which he carried when in command of the Dahlgren Association of Naval Veterans.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at the recent reunion of the Bible class of which he is vice president, said of a somewhat abusive magazine writer: "He attacks his country's greatest men, but when I read his attacks I can't help thinking that he is rather like old uncle Rastus."

"Uncle Rastus, testifying in a certain lawsuit, refused to be sworn. 'Ah will affirm,' he said. 'But, uncle Rastus,' the judge said, 'how is this?' Last week, in the Calhoun case, you swore readily enough. 'Yo' honah,' uncle Rastus solemnly said, 'ah was mo' suah o' mah fac's in dat case dan in dis one.'—Detroit Free Press.

The novelty of having his hair trimmed by a lady barber appealed to a mildly intoxicated clubman who entered an establishment where girls were employed as tonorialists. Loath to leave the chair after his hair had been trimmed, the clubman said to the girl:

"Now gimme a shave." The girl performed the task and awaited further instructions. "Guess you can put on a couple of hot towels," said the clubman. After the hot towels had been applied, the clubman enjoyed a face massage and permitted his hair to be anointed with perfume.

"Anything else?" sweetly asked the maid. Hesitating a moment as if to make up his mind, the clubman replied: "Yes; I guess you may pull a couple of teeth."—Judge.

Attacks School Principal

A severe attack on school principal, Chas. B. Allen, of Sylva, Ga., is thus told by him. "For more than three years," he writes, "I suffered indescribable torture from rheumatism, liver and stomach trouble and diseased kidneys. All remedies failed till I used Electric Bites, but four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me completely." Such results are common. Thousands bless them for curing stomach trouble, female complaints, kidney disorders, biliousness, and for new health and vigor. Try them. Only 50c at A. W. Dows & Co.

GOOD NIGHT

Did you ever stand outside the door When the little chap's gone to bed, When mamma has darkened the whole lights?

And listen to what is said? The upper floor, as I say is still, And the bathroom light is low And his room, wherein we have kissed "Good night."

Is as black as the blackest crow. He lies there, tucked to his chin in quilts. For the night outside is cold, As he bubbles and prattles about the lights.

That appear to a one-year old Who sees in the dark all those wonderful things. On the bedding about him piled That come in the stillness and inky black.

To watch over a sleeping child, In the mystical land where babies grow. They gather each night, with joy, To visit the ones they've lately lost.

To talk with a little boy, Who's lying abed in a darkened room, Awaiting the fairies' call, Which always takes place, as I've said before.

As soon as the shadows fall, They sit on his bed or fly about And whisper and nod and smile.

And he listens and kicks up his heels and laughs. And every once in a while You hear him gurgle and clap his hands.

And you hear him lip and crow, And you know they are talking together with God. Now, I haven't the slightest doubt in the world.

As I stand tonight by his door, That the fairy king and his retinue Are present as heretofore; That they're laughing and telling him funny tales.

To judge by his babyish glee, Till I almost wish, as I strain my ears, That I might a fairy be. And now there's a hush—there's a drowsy laugh—

He is slowly going to sleep. The fairies are silently folding their wings. Their night-long vigil to keep; Then a sigh—and they've tenderly closed his eyes;

Sweet peace till the morning light, And I leave him safe in the hands of God. Good-night, little boy—good-night! Harry C. Russ, in The Transcript.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Boston Journal: With reciprocity out of the way, the people on this side of the line can give more attention to undesirable conditions existing under their own tariff law. There is nothing left to show for all the agitation which has been going on since the Payne-Aldrich bill was foisted upon the country than the prospect that the tariff board will assist congress in producing reciprocity which will be acceptable to the president. It is ridiculous to have all this wrangling and no advancing. The collapse of the reciprocity movement leaves it more than ever incumbent upon the statesmen at Washington to get together and straighten out their own tariff tangle. If they don't do it there will surely be another upheaval next year on this side of the line.

"I am more convinced than ever," says Mr. McNeill McCormick, the La Follette booster, "that the state is insurgent and only needs the proper leadership to show it." Mr. McCormick's convictions regarding Massachusetts republicanism may receive further support next Tuesday.

INSURGENT BOOMERS HERE

Boston Herald: The two western custodians of Senator La Follette's presidential boom who were in Boston yesterday to sound the sentiment of Massachusetts republicanism are said to have found the outlook good "for at least one delegate favorable to the aspirations of the Wisconsin statesman." That is in truth a very modest claim and is adequate evidence that Messrs. McNeill McCormick and Rudolph Sprengle did not find much prospect in stirring up an anti-Taft movement in this commonwealth.

EXPORT TRADE

NATIONAL MOVEMENT TO BOOM IT STARTED

A national movement for the increase of foreign commerce will be inaugurated at the Second Annual convention of the American Manufacturers' Export association, to be held at the Hotel Astor in New York city on Sept. 25-26. Extensive plans are being formulated to improve "the various channels of foreign trade, and a worldwide campaign will be undertaken in this direction. The movement will have the co-operation of the state department and the consular service.

The American Manufacturers' Export association is composed of leading export manufacturers concerns in this country, and the capitalization of its members is more than $600,000,000. The officers are: W. B. Campbell, president, Perkins Campbell company, Cincinnati, O.; vice presidents, J. K. Rodgers, E. L. Pont de Nemours Powder Co., Newburgh, N. Y.; D. T. Mitchell, Victor Talking Machine Co., Camden, N. J.; D. E. Delgado, Lastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.; treasurer, J. H. Cherry, Sargent & Co., New York; secretary, Henry T. Willis, New York city. Among the members of the organization are the General Electric Mfg. Co., Schenectady, N. Y.; Westinghouse Electric Co., New York; Carborundum Co., Niagara Falls, N. Y.; American Laundry Machinery Co., Cincinnati, O.; the Norton Co., Worcester, Mass.; Standard Williams Co., Newark, N. J.; Seward Underwood Cable Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; H. J. Heinz Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; National Cash Register Co., Dayton, O.; Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, Pa.; J. J. Brill & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.; and J. A. & B. Bird & Co., Boston, Mass.

Addresses will be delivered at the convention by Mr. W. B. Campbell,

"The Water of Eternal Youth"

(From Home Question)

The beauties of the Austrian court used a lotion which was so essential in keeping the face smooth and free from wrinkles, even in the aged, that they named it the "water of eternal youth."

Some one has recently divulged the secret of this wonderful, though exceedingly simple, wrinkle lotion, which in her gratitude she has humbly dubbed as a preserver of youth. One of the ingredients is (macerated), dissolved in a half pint of witch hazel—that's all there is to it. Any woman can get these ingredients at her drug-store; put them together, and use the solution with entire safety. To bathe the face in the same brings immediate results, even in case of the deeper wrinkles and furrows. This is also effective for hanging cheeks and double chin.

MR. I. L. SHOWEM TRIES TO EVADE JURY DUTY

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

If you are hankering for the very best vaudeville at a reasonable price of admission, then don't fail to consider the offerings that are given from week to week at the Merrimack Square theatre, recognized as Lowell's amusement centre. Despite the fact that the prices are not the highest, the quality of entertainment is, and the wonder to the majority of its many thousands of patrons has been "how do they do it?" Every act that is presented at this playhouse comes highly recommended, and is always with the assurance that nothing better can be secured, that the management announces his bill from week to week. The offering the past week is a fair one on which to judge the excellent quality of entertainment which will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre during the winter months. If you missed it you certainly missed a big treat.

For the coming week the Frasier Troupe, five men and women, in Irish and Scotch songs, dances and bagpiping, are to be featured in a new and original sketch that is said to be simply filled with delightful amusement. This troupe enjoys the distinction of having won favor in all of the big cities of the east and after a short stay in these parts for a long run in the west. Previous to their coming to this country they performed in all of the cities of prominence in Europe.

"The Open Gate," a rural drama, and one of the best penned by that noted playwright, Haddon Chambers, will be the offerings of Our Stock company. The play, classified among the highest types of short story sketches, will give Mr. Kendall and his associate players, which includes Beatrice Saville, a new acquisition.

The Dick Thompson company, in an Irish singing comedy sketch, "Erin Go Bragh," are delightful entertainers, and The Shillings, rifle sharpshooters, are expert marksmen, whose entertainment includes some novel stunts in shooting. Miss Anna McDonald will sing the songs of the night at 10.15. The others are Baldwin and Quinn, Francis and Carol, Miss May Whitely, The Wheelers, Nelson and Milledge, in a new act, and Rivet and Miller. The photo-plays are the kind approved by the state. Telephone number 2053.

Sunday's sacred concert will include choice numbers, including Miss Mabel McKinley in new songs. Miss McKinley will appear but twice, in the afternoon at 4 o'clock and at night at 10.15. The others are Baldwin and Quinn, Francis and Carol, Miss May Whitely, The Wheelers, Nelson and Milledge, in a new act, and Rivet and Miller. The photo-plays are the kind approved by the state. Telephone number 2053.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

"With you kindly impress upon the minds of my patrons that there are no reserved seats sold for the Sunday concert at this theatre, and that 20 cents will admit to the main floor and the first balcony; and the admission to the second balcony will be 10 cents," said Mr. Will H. Stevens, manager of this theatre yesterday afternoon, in spite of the fact that much publicity was given to the announcement that there would be no reserved seats for the concert last Sunday afternoon and evening, the treasurer, Ben Pickett, was deluged with telephone requests for seat reservations for the concert. The concert will continue through the winter months and spring, and it will be the aim of the management to book the most attractive bill which can be obtained in addition to five reels of the latest moving picture films; Leo Carullo, with new stories, of his experiences in newspaper work; the Romania quartet, high class operatic soloists; Hilda Hawthorne, the lady ventriloquist, whose work is considered the best seen in this city; Catter and Bonham, the star orienters will tell in song and stories, funny things which happen to actors.

However, in the reading of this all star Sunday concert bill the localities who have not as yet attended the excellent bill of this house, for this week, should remember that it will be given this afternoon and evening. They should not overlook it as it is an exceptional offering, which is headed by Rose Coghlan, the famous comedy star, with Leo Carullo, dialect artist, Hilda Hawthorne, ventriloquist, Thomas Moir and company in "The Foolman," The Great Santall, in "Feats of Hitting; Catter and Bonham, accomplished entertainers, and Kite Karson, sharpshooter. Reels of the latest productions in moving picture photography close the bill. Next week's bill will include, Dr. Carl Harman, a noted doctor and scientist who for the purpose of bringing the public to the full realization of the healing benefits of electricity has signed a contract with Mr. Keith, for a vaudeville engagement, Marian Knight and his company in his own sketch "The Chalk Line," one of the rarest comedy treats ever given local theatregoers; John Selt and Carrio Star, comedy stars, who will appear in "The Brainstorm Musical," and the telephone girl; Mr. and Mrs. Allison, late of the "What Happened to Jones" company, in "Minneasta," an act on funny happenings to a swede girl; Harry Fantelstad, Billo Vallorio, elite entertainers; Roeder and Lester, gymnasts and Emmet Brothers, terpsichorean artists and special moving pictures.

Seats may be reserved in advance by phoning 25.—Adv.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Although the Donald Meek stock company has been presenting the best dramas since coming to this city, none has ever created such favorable criticism and has met with so general approval as the dramatization of "The Barrier," the beautiful play of the great French north, which is founded upon the novel of the same title written by Rex Beach. The final performance of his drama will be given this afternoon and evening and although there has been a large sale of tickets for these two performances there are still many good seats left. The patrons of the theatre will hear with much pleasure of the intended presentation of the funniest play ever written, "Naughty Rebecca," a late contribution to the stage from Souchet, the French wit who has become to be considered with the leading dramatists of the present age. In this comedy, Souchet uses as the leading character, an old man, who has been a great "house mouse," with not one absentee mark made against his since he was married. His wife is called to attend an ill sister and it is with the departure of his wife from the house, that the desire for mingling with the throng, in and about "The Great White Way" seizes him. Thinking that his wife will never know about his capers he goes to Burns, and there he meets an actress for whom he buys food and drink. After the supply of food and drink ordered is served he excuses himself and does not return. After a hilarious night in the cafe the old fellow returns home, in a rather impressive condition, he is met at the door by his wife, who demands an explanation of his conduct. After he has made a much fabricated exposition of the happenings of the night she is just about to forgive him when a bracelet belonging to herself is returned by a gentleman, who says that it was found in the ball room of Burns the night before.

From the sinking piece of humanity trying to pacify the upset condition of his wife's mind the old fellow becomes angered at the return of the bracelet and forthwith demands a true account of her actions and the persons whom she associated with at Burns. The poor wife cannot account for the finding of the bracelet at the safe and is turned by a gentleman, who says that it was found in the ball room of Burns the night before.

Mr. Meek will assume the character of the old man, and assisted by Miss Horton, Mr. Fellows and William C. Walsh, a local boy, will no doubt present the funniest comedy ever given in this city.

Tickets are now on sale and may be ordered in advance by phone 311.—Adv.

THEATRE VOYONS

The dramatic feature of the program at the Theatre Voyons today is "The Sheriff," an Edison story picture with just a bit of western flavor. It is not too strong on shooting and its story is a sweet, clean and interesting one, full of human touches. "Dan the Dandy," the biograph comedy, is a somewhat different picture, full of the right kind of laughs. Pathe's weekly shows among other things President Taft and the G. A. R. veterans at Rochester, the railroad wreck at Middletown, Conn., auto races at Elgin, Ill., and Jordan's, France, Emperor William of Germany at the head of the Colorados company, and Aviator Atwood making his start from Nyaack, N. Y., on the last lap of his Chicago-New York trip.—Adv.

FRENCH REPLY APPROVED

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The cabinet met with President Fallieres at his residence in Rambouillet today, when a French reply to Germany's last suggestion for an agreement concerning Morocco was approved unanimously.

The reply was submitted by Premier Caillaux and Foreign Minister Desseines. Since Germany's proposals were drawn after two long conversations between the German minister of foreign affairs, Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter, and the French ambassador, M. Cambon, it will probably be found that France has accepted the arrangement proposed regarding Morocco itself, the question remaining being the details of the cession to Germany in French Congo.

MOTORMAN HELD IN $5000

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Sept. 23.—William St. Rock, a motorman, was held criminally responsible for the death of George Solomons, who was knocked from his coal team when St. Rock's car ran into it on September 7, by Coroner Thomas A. Vance today. Immediately following the announcement of the coroner's verdict St. Rock was arrested and brought into the district court on the charge of manslaughter. He pleaded not guilty and his case was continued until September 30. Bail of $5000 was furnished by his father.

DOG FOUND A PURSE

And Turned it Over to a Watchman

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Mayor Gaynor's dog "Spot," which spends the nights in a comfortable recess of the city hall, picked up a lady's pocketbook containing $200 in bills in a corner of one of the corridors of the building today and carried it to the watchman.

Besides two money bags, were three diamond rings, a pearl necklace and two cards, one bearing the name "Miss Genevieve McDonald, P. O. Box 10, Loring, Mount Vernon, N. Y." Mrs. Loring was immediately called up by telephone and said that Miss McDonald, who is visiting her, had lost the purse, while sightseeing down town in New York yesterday. The jewelry was valued at about $1800. The purse was immediately forwarded to Miss McDonald by messenger.

A. Marchall, employed by Harry Sheel of South Lowell, while driving a wagon through Lawrence street in the vicinity of the Waterhead mills about 11 o'clock this morning lost his balance and fell into the street. The ambulance was summoned and the man was taken to St. John's hospital, where it was found he was suffering from a slight scalp wound.

ZELMA SEARS IN "THE NEST EGG"

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"The Girl in the Taxi" drew a large audience to the Opera house last night, and all were well repaid for their trouble, for the play scored one grand success.

The play deals with the model Stewart family, of whom Bertie, 20 years of age, is the angel who was never in love or "made a night of it," while the senior Stewart has one feeling, the impulse of "making a night of it" on hearing the song "Home, Sweet Home." He hears it and goes. The son Bertie hears it for it is the signal agreed upon between him and a Broadway belle. The invalid, Percy Peters, also lies himself to the care selected by the entire aggregation, and it is not difficult to imagine the complications that occur, when that crowd of gay deceivers meet each other in the cafe Churchill.

But the morning after,—at first it seems as though the two deceivers of the Stewart family are to get away with a clean slate, but along comes the husband of the belle who entertained the "boys," old and young, and gives the whole snap away. Well, in the end everybody knows what the other did the night before and they remain the sadder and wiser, and Bertie has made his debut. "Like father, like son."

The cast was as follows:
Murietta, maid of Mrs. Stewart, Gertrude Barthold
Clara Stewart, wife of John Stewart, Gertrude Lebrand
Walter Watson, a friend of the family, Richard Balfu
John Stewart, banker, president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, recently elected a member of the "Society of Arts and Letters" ..... Frank J. Kirk

(From The Social Register)
It is well known that within recent years the men have become extensive patrons of beauty specialists and massagers. Not only the fastidious, but men generally who "have a care for personal appearance." This has also led to the employment by many of means calculated to enhance or preserve physical attractiveness, especially by those who abhor "beauty parlors."

Of these, perhaps the most widely used is ordinary merrillized wax, which explains the mystery of the silver-haired gentleman with the boyish face. The merrillized wax, obtainable at any drug-store, is applied after shaving, the same as cold cream, only not rubbed in. This gradually absorbs the dead and half-dead cuticle in tiny particles, revealing the fresher, healthier-lined skin beneath. To secure best results many apply the wax at night, washing it off in the morning. Women not only encourage husbands in this, but use the treatment themselves.

Bertie Stewart, his son, Ward DeWolf Peters, his niece, Ma, Gerald Percy Peters, her husband, W. J. Walsh, Frederick Smith, a manufacturer of perfumes, also a major of the 37th New Jersey National Guard, Tine S. James.

Mignon, his wife—"The Girl in the Taxi" ..... Lucille Gardiner
Mademoiselle Irma, a vaudeville artist, Nan Ellis
Rosie, her friend, an ex-chorus lady, Alice Randolph
Alexis, head waiter at Churchill's Cafe, Keith Walton
Emilie, one of his assistants, James Walson
Polkman ..... J. H. Rolander
Dr. Paul ..... Charles Peerman

The cast throughout is composed of clever actors and their artistic playing last night made a very good impression on the audience, especially "Bertie," who is an accomplished comedian. His acting, singing and singing was up to the standard, and while he was on the stage, the audience roared.

The play is well worth seeing and as another performance will be given tonight, another large audience is expected to be on hand to witness "The Girl in the Taxi."

"THE NEST EGG."
On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday next theatregoers of this city will witness the first presentation in Lowell of Anne Caldwell's new play "The Nest Egg" at the Opera House with Zelma Sears in the stellar role. It is a comedy creation of the semi-rural type, with the scene of the play laid in a small town called Eden Centre, near Albany, and has many quaint character studies in it, many odd bits of rural life, and many original and homely epigrams.

The story follows the experience of a middle aged spinster dressmaker, whose object in life is keep the wolf from the door and get a husband. Through many vicissitudes and very narrow escapes she accomplishes both objects and emerges from her many predicaments in flying colors, though for a time she is dangerously near being the scorn of the village where she makes her home. "The Nest Egg" has a cast of unusual excellence and comes direct from the Park Theatre, Boston.—Adv.

"THE NEWLYWEDS."
Earl Knapp, the Illipian actor, is said to make little Napoleon an even funnier kiding than McManus has ever created on paper. Napoleon's pretty mamma is played by Olga Von Hatzfeldt, one of the prettiest and cleverest comedienne on the stage. "Chas. A. Morgan, who is Mr. Newlywed, has the peculiar cast of countenance necessary for the proper portrayal of the McManus idea of what Da Da's papa ought to be.

There are 60 and 40 people in the organization of funmakers, 75 per cent. of which are girls. They appear here at the Opera House, Sept. 22 and 23, with Saturday matinee.—Adv.

FOUND NOT GUILTY BLIND MEN WORK TWO FIREMEN INJURED

Man Was Arraigned in Court on Charge of Assault

Stephanos Cutsanis was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Christos Papanolion, but after a rather long drawn out hearing the court found the defendant not guilty and ordered him discharged. J. Joseph Hennessy appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by Daniel J. Donahue.

According to the testimony offered the complainant was passing through upper Market street about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of August 26th when he claimed Costas Exarhas crossed the street and after making a few remarks struck him once and then Cutsanis crossed the street and struck him three times. The witness testified that he was suffering from a broken arm and as a result of the blows received from the two men his arm was rebroken and he has been in the hospital ever since and may have to remain there several weeks longer. He was unable to explain why he was assaulted.

Shortly after the alleged assault occurred Cutsanis was placed under arrest but the other man, Exarhas, made his escape.

The court after considering the case found that the missing man was responsible for the assault and finding Cutsanis not guilty ordered that he be discharged.

Guilty of Trespass

Jeremiah D. Murphy was charged with drunkenness and trespassing on his father's property. The father testified that he had ordered the son to leave his place but the son refused to go. The defendant's sister stated that "Jerry" was always ugly when he was drunk and that he was also drunk when he had any money. She said that last Thursday night he threw her and her mother out of bed.

The defendant admitted that he had been ordered out of the house by his father, but said that later the father asked him to return. He was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $5 for being drunk, and relative to the case of trespass, although the court found him guilty he was placed in the custody of the probation officer for a term of three months.

Drunken Offenders

There were 11 drunks arrested and of that number four were released. William McCoy, an elderly man, was charged with being drunk, but owing to his advanced age the court suspended sentence in order to ascertain if the man could be cared for at the City hospital.

Marcel Tessier put up a battle when arrested for being drunk last night, and just for that he was fined $10.

Michael Burke was given a sentence of five months in jail. John O'Day was fined $5 and several first offenders were fined $2 each.

Violation of Milk Law

Frank L. Peabody was charged with having watered milk in his possession, but by agreement the hearing of the case was postponed until next Saturday.

BLIND MEN AT WORK IN SHOP IN DUTTON STREET

Some of Them Are Able to Earn Good Wages

The workshop for the blind, located at 213 Dutton street, is a very interesting industrial place. It is conducted under the auspices of the commission for the blind, the said commission being appointed by the governor of the state to serve without pay. The present commission is composed as follows: James P. Munroe, chairman; Miss Annette P. Rogers, Mrs. John T. Prince, Walter B. Snow, secretary, and Edward E. Allen.

The Lowell workshop was established on June 1, 1905, at 48 Central street, with two men. Business was so prosperous that a year ago last May, Mr. Harry G. Burke, the manager, had to look for larger quarters and the present location was secured. There are now nine men employed in the shop and their specialty is cane seating and hatbands making, and it is estimated that 4000 pieces of work have been turned out of the establishment since it was organized.

The men who toil daily in the shop are Patrick Brady, an old resident of this city; Frank A. Casey, Harry M. Jennings, Leopold Loupret, James Lennox, who for years previous to his losing his sight was employed in the carpenter shop of the Merrimack mills; Arthur J. Mason of Tyngsboro, Louis M. Morse and William J. Walsh; Henry J. Burke, foreman.

The place does not pay its expenses, and it is not expected to do so, as the work is being done so cheap, and then again all is asked from the commission is that the employees pay for the stock which they get at cost price. The state pays the rent and all other expenses except for the stock. In a short time the broom industry will be started, providing someone can be secured to teach the blind men the work.

The men work eight hours a day and their average pay is between $4 and $12 per week. When a man starts in the business he is helped a good deal by the state, for instance, if he makes two dollars a week, the state will allow him two more dollars and this is called the bonus. As quick as his earnings increase, the bonus diminishes, and after a while the workman can earn enough to keep himself and three of them were so successful that they have taken unto themselves a wife.

A bookkeeper calls at the shop once a day and does the clerical work. Three of the employees have to be led to their work from their home, but the others are all able to walk around the streets without any trouble. The men in the shop are all happy and also very steady workers. They are kept busy almost the whole year and they turn out very good work. The work is delivered free of charge and an extremely low rate is asked for the work.

Explosion Followed By Fire in the Old Tiffany Building

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Fire swept through two floors of the old Tiffany building, 11-13 Union square, early today, causing $100,000 damage, injuring two firemen and endangering the lives of several others. The building is occupied by several manufacturing firms.

The fire started with an explosion which brought the guests out of two neighboring hotels in a panic, and caused a squad of detectives who had been rounding up sleepers in the parks to let about 30 prisoners escape while they rushed to the scene. The two injured firemen were cut off by falling glass. Four pipemen were cut off by the flames on a fourth floor balcony when the hose they were carrying burst. A water tower was rushed to their assistance just in time to save their lives.

The flames were extinguished after two hours' work.

THIRTY-FIVE AVIATORS To Take Part in Big Meet at Garden City

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—With 35 aviators, among them four women, turning up their aeroplanes and making short test flights, all was in readiness today for the International aviation meet, which was scheduled to start at 3 o'clock this afternoon with a passenger-carrying race between monoplane and biplane, and continue for five days on a field on the Nassau boulevard, Garden City.

Approximately $50,000 in prizes are to be distributed during the meet.

The management announced today that the Wright brothers who claim a controlling interest on airships, had increased the meet at the last moment and would send aviators to take part in the contests. This reassured many of the aviators who feared suits.

The first aerial postal services to be duly authorized by the United States post office department was to be inaugurated this afternoon from the field. A regular branch post office has been established on the field, with a number of postal clerks, and the department has designed a new postmark stamp which will be placed on each letter. This reads that it is a "special aerial service" from "Aerial Station No. 1, Garden City, L. I." Captain Paul W. Peck proposes to make two flights daily, carrying about 20,000 letters each day. He will take them from the field to some post office on Long Island or to Governor's Island, from where the aerial mail will be transferred to the regular postal routes and forwarded to its destination. Postmaster General Hitchcock has announced that he would witness this aerial delivery on Monday.

ECZEMA CAME FROM TEETHING

Watery Festers Dried In Scabs. Would Dig and Scratch Her Face. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Was Cured.

"When my little girl was about eight months old, she was taken with a very irritating breaking out, which came on her face, neck and back. When she first came down it, it came in little watery, like festers under her eyes, and on her chin, then after a few days it would dry down in scaly, white scabs. In the daytime she was quite worrisome and would dig and scratch her face nearly all the time.

I consulted our physician and found she was suffering from eczema, which he said came from her teething.

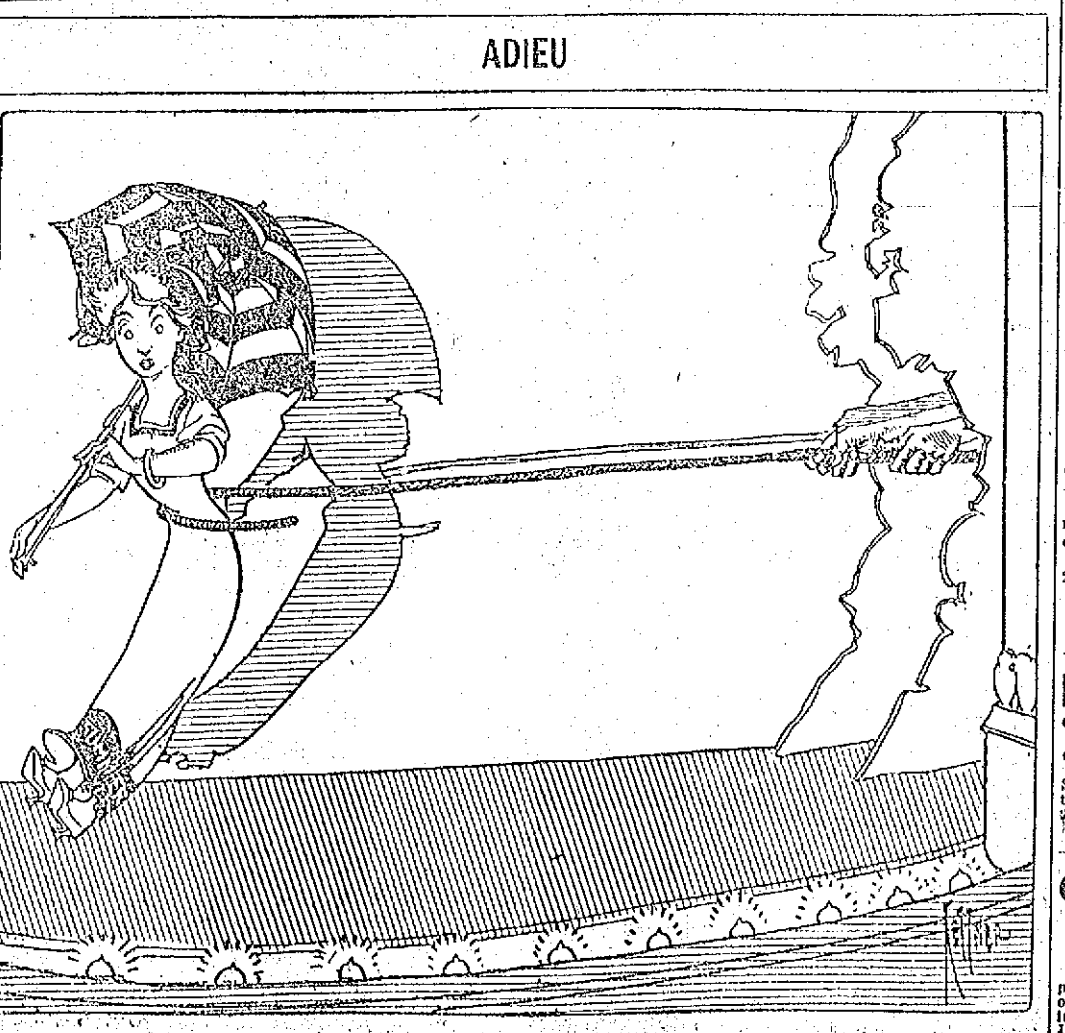

I used the ointment he gave me and without any relief at all. Then I wrote for a book on Cuticura, and purchased some Cuticura Soap and Ointment at the drugstore. I did as I found directions in the Cuticura Booklet, and when she was one year old, she was entirely cured. Now she is three years and four months, and she has never been troubled with eczema since she was cured by the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. Freeman Craver, 311 Lewis St., Syracuse, N. Y., May 6, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, but to those who have tried the usual remedies and found them wanting, and who have lost faith in everything, a liberal sample of each, with 25¢ book on the skin, will be sent post-free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 2A, Boston, Mass.

LARCENY CHARGED

YOUNG WOMAN PLACED UNDER ARREST AGAIN

WORCESTER, Sept. 23.—Hope R. Flavel, aged 21, a handsome young woman who was indicted by the federal grand jury in Boston yesterday on a charge of raising a money order for $3 to $50, and who is out on bail, was arrested here yesterday by Capt. of Detectives Patrick O'Day on a charge of larceny of $125 worth of hats and dresses from Worcester department stores.

Capt. O'Day was making a search of the young woman's room in the Kenmore hotel, where she has been staying with her grandmother, when he received a message that the young woman was in one of the department stores. He went there and placed her under arrest, securing her to police headquarters, where she was booked on a charge of larceny.

Some of the goods found by detective O'Day in her room have been identified by officials of the stores as stuff stolen from them. According to the police, the woman got a $45 hat in an unusual manner. They say she went into one of the stores and made a small purchase, asking the clerk for a big box she wanted for a special purpose. The clerk gave her the box, which she placed among the high-priced hats. While the clerk's attention was taken with another customer, it is charged Miss Flavel slipped the new hat into the box and then handed the box to the clerk, who wrapped it in paper and allowed her to walk off with it.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

CAUCUS DRAWS NEAR

ticket. The principal local democratic contest appears to be that between Registrar of Deeds William C. Purcell, who is now filling the unexpired term and seeks the nomination, and Attorney James Burns, who is a candidate for the office. The democratic representative contests are fewer and with a less number of candidates than formerly. In the ward two district Rep. Dennis Murphy is opposed again by Ex-Rep. Edward Kearns, whom he defeated last year. In the ward four and five districts where formerly a host of candidates appeared annually there are but two this year, Rep. Eugene Toomey and Ex-Councilman John J. O'Connell. In the other representative districts there are no contests. In the senatorial district Ex-Rep. Henry Draper has things his own way and will be strong on election day.

The republican contest for registrar of voters is waxing most intense here as a result of the unexpected hostile being made by Candidate Bacon and his friends. Two years ago when he was a candidate he is said to have intimated to the party workers that it was up to them to elect him and that he was not required to do any hustling. He that it may be the fact is, that Mr. Bacon and his friends have been hustling mightily but in a quiet way holding house meetings and attending out-ings while the candidate has been doing more "mising" than ever before. His opponent, Senator Hibbard, whose vote-getting proclivities are well known, has not been idle and it is a toss-up as to which one will be named by the party to lead the forlorn hope on election day.

While there are three candidates for the senatorial nomination on the republican ticket all one fears in Lowell is Barlow and Killpatrick, the two Lowell candidates for the ward two district. The original candidates in the contest Mr. Stevens' entrance being the nature of a surprise. Both men have been particularly active in the legislature, Rep. Barlow being particularly well known through his efforts in behalf of the Corporation tax bill and other popular measures, while Mr. Killpatrick exerted a wide influence in the legislature in his two years there and was one of Speaker Walker's closest advisors during the past session.

These are the candidates for the legislature on the republican ticket in the ward one district, Messrs. Butler and Chisholm and they are making a quiet contest.

The 17th Rep. District

The big contest for the legislature is in the 17th district where the candidates are Ex-Councilman Victor Jewett, grandson of Ex-Mayor Jewett, Councilman Henry Achin, one of the best known and most popular French-American representatives at city hall, John Leggat, Esq., a well known lawyer, James Webster, a son of Ex-Police Lieutenant Webster and Frank Gray. It is needless to state that each candidate is hustling. Councilman Achin is working for Rep. Mar- shall to retire before announcing his candidacy and hence there is no friction among the great body of French-American voters who reside in that district. Ex-Councilman Jewett having exceptional ability and popularity may be depended upon to poll a large vote. In the last city election he came within a few votes of being the lone republican to reach an election. Lawyer Leggat ran last year and made a good run. The other two candidates are all new men in the field. Up in Ward 5 there are several candidates but they are working so quietly that no news of their contest has arrived down town as yet.

Representative Toomey

Practical Politics in reviewing the records of the members of the legislature pays the following tribute to Rep. Eugene F. Toomey of this city: "It was due to Rep. Eugene F. Toomey of Lowell as much as anyone that a democratic minority of four on this year's committee on federal relations was able to control the action of that committee on practically every important matter before it. There were at least two 'progressive' republicans on that committee but there was one democratic member who constantly gobbled and it required the sharpest kind of aggressiveness and pertinacity on Rep. Toomey's part to see that his party voted solidly on such important party and people's measures as the income tax and direct election of United States senators. The young man from Lowell has an extremely modest and unassuming exterior, but it covers a whole lot of fighting ability as the committee found out when it tackled these measures which some of the most powerful political and financial interests in the commonwealth were seeking to defeat. Both matters came out with favorable reports and went through the house by an overwhelming vote. The committee also reported resolutions endorsing the parcels post and reciprocity with Canada. This committee in the last two years has been one of the most important in the legislature and it was no small honor for the Lowell man to be named by Speaker Walker as a member. As in his committee work, Rep. Toomey was a most conscientious attendant upon the sessions of the house. He never missed a rollcall or session during the year and always his vote was recorded in favor of the plain people. Besides the big progressive political measures reported by his own committee, he was a strong supporter of the eight-hour bill, the 54-hour bill for women and minors employed in factories, the bill to prevent fines upon weavers for imperfections in their work, the bill to allow labor unions to impose fines to enforce strikes, the bill to provide for trial by jury in contempt of court cases, the bill to restrict the issuance of injunctions in labor disputes and all measures designed to better the conditions of the working class.

He did effective work for the bill which gives discharged or suspended employees, in the classified service, an appeal to the local police, district or municipal court.

PAUL JONES MAKES HISTORY

SEPT. 23.—John Paul Jones was cruising off the coast of Yorkshire, England on September 23, 1776. John wasn't on any pleasure cruise either. He was looking for some English boat that he could take a crack at just to show that the Yanks could fight as well as the British. The Seraphs a well built and well armed ship of the English navy were fast and Jones went after her. The shooting started before the ships were in range but they got closer after a while. The English ship out-maneuvered the American because the Bonhomme Richard was more or less of an old scow. The Seraphs also did some fairly good shooting, and at one time it looked as though they would bring home the honor. A well placed shot from the Seraphs set the Bonhomme on fire, and Commodore Jones decided that things were getting too hot for comfort, so he surrendered his ship to Jones, who took his prize to Holland where he received the plaudits of the world—England excepted.

MISSION FOR WOMEN

Will Come to a Close Tomorrow Afternoon

The women's mission at St. Peter's church which is being conducted this week by the Augustinian Fathers, will come to a close tomorrow afternoon after exercises had been held every morning and evening. The attendance was so large that services were held in both the upper and lower churches. The mission exercises tomorrow afternoon will be held at 3 o'clock when a powerful sermon of the good of the mission will be preached in both churches. The men's mission retreat will open in the morning at all the houses, when instructions will be given by the missionaries. In the evening the service will be held at 7.30 o'clock to be continued every evening at the same time and in the morning at 5 and 8, when masses will be celebrated.

BOY WENT ASTRAY

HE WAS LOOKING FOR RELATIVES AT LAKEVIEW

An eight-year-old boy residing in Everett was brought to the police station last night by one of the conductors on the Lakeview line. The boy had some relatives stopping at Lakeview and while making a trip out to that resort in order to locate them went astray. His relatives were notified and they called at the police station and took charge of the boy.

CIRCULAR ON REQUEST

To Build New Mills

MERRIMACK CO.

Is Buying Back Some of Its Tenement Property

Conditions in the textile business are looking somewhat brighter in Lowell, and the curtailment in production has given manufacturers a good opportunity to make many needed improvements in their plants. Mention has been made in these columns from time to time of all the new buildings being constructed by the different corporations and also of proposed new buildings.

The Merrimack company, like the Massachusetts, is going to turn its tenement property into mill buildings. The brick buildings in Colburn street from number 135 to 142, inclusive, will be converted into a storage house for cotton. The windows will be bricked up and other necessary alterations will be made. The Merrimack has bought back considerable land that it sold to Salomon Sirk a few years ago. The company, in fact, has bought back several pieces of land that it sold, and it looks as if greater extensions along the building line than have been reported are anticipated.

The Hamilton Mills

The Hamilton Manufacturing company has rearranged nearly all its machinery in a way which cuts down greatly the cost of production, and as has already been stated, is building the first section of a large new mill. Detailed information concerning the size and location of this new building has already appeared in The Sun.

Tremont & Suffolk

The Tremont & Suffolk company has recently installed much new equipment and is driving the machinery in those mills by electric motors. Agent Connelley has personally supervised the work of installing the big electric plant and it has taken a long time. It is now complete, however, and is giving good satisfaction.

Coming to Lowell

Roger W. Davis, who has for several years been assistant manager of the Lowell Machine Shop's southern office at Atlanta, Ga., will move to this city October 1, to become agent of the Kitson Machine company, and sales manager of the Lowell Machine shop. The southern office of the big shop was discontinued September 1.

A JOINT OUTING

Of the Lowell and Manchester City Fathers

The Manchester, N. H., city government and the Lowell city government have completed arrangements for a joint outing and the Manchester city government will be the host. The day set is Wednesday, October 4. Frank M. Dowling, clerk of committees, received a communication from the Manchester city government this morning informing him that the outing would be held either at Riverside park or Hooksett. Base ball, of course, will be the piece de resistance, and it is up to the local city government to pick its fastest team. Warren Riordan, the mayor's private secretary, will attend the outing and if not allowed to look after the welfare of the Lowell team at first base, he says he will report the matter to the district attorney, Geo. Bean, who stopped high ones with the St. Louis team, when Hector was a pup, will play short stop. The full line up of the Lowell team has not yet been decided upon, but the most ardent advocate of the proposed new charter will admit that there are at least nine lively fellows out of the thirty-seven at city hall.

SIXTH REGIMENT

Won the Regimental Shoot at Wakefield

WAKEFIELD, Sept. 23.—The tricolor, which is the regimental championship emblem for marksmanship of the state militia was won today for the second year in succession by the Sixth infantry through superior work at the 1000 yard butte, they being tied with the Fifth infantry at 2000 in the total points for the two days' shoot. Under the rule the trophy in case of a tie goes to the team making the better score at the longest range. The winner made 492 points at the 1000 yard range, while the fifth infantry scored but 476. The summary: Sixth infantry: 2099; Fifth infantry: 2090; coast artillery: 2085; first corps cadets: 2019; second infantry: 1965; Eighth infantry: 1907; Ninth infantry: 1832; first squad cavalry: 1765; second corps cadets: 1655; naval brigade: 1429.

WRIT OF OUSTER

Woman Mayor Wants Councilmen Fired

TOPEKA, Kas., Sept. 23.—Charging that the Hunnevell, Kas., councilmen refused to confirm Mayor Wilson's appointments although she presented the names of nearly every reputable citizen of the town, a petition asking the ouster of the four councilmen was filed in the Kansas supreme court today by Attorney-General Dawson.

The petition took up the history of the dispute between the mayor and council, stating that the council desired to meet in "an up stairs bedroom in a hotel," that Mayor Wilson objected to this and the councilmen consented to meet the mayor in the council hall, but did not attend when she went there. Then, when the attorney-general notified them they would have to meet, they met but refused absolutely to confirm any of her appointments.

The petition concluded with the statement that by reason of the failure of the councilmen to act, "the city is made helpless and is prevented from providing protection for the life and property of its citizens."

THE BIG KEITH SIGN

The big Keith sign, on the top of the Bunels building, which will impress upon local residents the fact that B. F. Keith, the "vaudeville king," is presenting an excellent vaudeville bill at his theatre in Bridge street, twice daily, will be illuminated for the first time this evening between the hours 7 and 9:30 o'clock.

CHILDREN FOUND

THEY WANDERED FROM THEIR HOME IN WEST FORREST ST.

Helenia Galley and George Silva, the former daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Galley of 26 West Forrest street, the two children who were lost yesterday, were found early last evening in Pine street, near Wilder street. The two children and a sister of the former, Edith Galley, aged 2 years, wandered away from home in the forenoon and caused their parents much anxiety. Edith was found at noon, but the other two were not located until early in the evening after a posse of men had secured the woods in back of the residence of Representative Kilpatrick.

The other two were found at the other end of the Highlands and later returned to their parents, who were down hearted over their disappearance. The children got lost while playing and could not find their way back.

"JOE" CHRISTO

TO MAKE RUN FROM LAWRENCE TO LOWELL

"Joe" Christo will run from Lawrence to Lowell next Saturday in an attempt to cover the distance in fifty minutes. If he does accomplish the feat he will receive $20.

GOVERNOR FOSS

Will Be Asked to Appoint N. D. Pratt to Superior Court Bench

Nathan D. Pratt, for the superior court bench. That's the slogan in legal circles in Lowell today and influential men outside of the legal profession are doing what they can to help the appointment along.

The appointment of Mr. Pratt, one of Lowell's ablest and best known lawyers, to the superior court bench is looked forward to with great confidence by Mr. Pratt's friends.

There are two vacancies on the superior court bench, one caused by the death of Judge Richardson and the other by the promotion of Judge DeCourcy to the supreme court bench. It is generally admitted that Mr. Pratt is well qualified for the office of superior court judge, and the appointment should come to Lowell.

The request for the appointment of Mr. Pratt goes to Governor Foss with strong endorsement, including that of the State Bar association. The Lowell Bar association is strongly in favor of the appointment and the members will put forth their best efforts to secure it. Mr. Pratt is one of the oldest practitioners in Lowell and is a former city solicitor. For a number of years he was chairman of the board of assessors and was obliged to resign that position to take care of his growing business. He has several times been spoken of as a candidate for congress and has been pressed to offer himself as candidate for mayor, but refused those honors because he said his business demanded all of his time.

He possesses the judicial mind, and the wide legal experience necessary to qualify him for a position on the bench.

MONEY TO CHARITY

Provisions in the Will of the Late Miss Catherine Ryan

Miss Catherine Ryan, who died September 9, at 16 Sargent street, had been known throughout St. Patrick's parish for many years as a very religious and charitable woman. She was especially devoted to the relief of the poor and of destitute children. She accumulated a considerable sum of money by industry and thrift during the greater part of her life, but the amount which she left by will to charity and a few relatives would have been much larger had she not always been a generous giver to every deserving charity that came within the scope of her knowledge and sympathies.

Miss Ryan left a will bequeathing $5000 to two nieces and one nephew. The will is returnable on September 27th. Her property situated in Broadway and School streets she left to be spent in charity and under the direction of Rev. William O'Brien, P. R., of St. Patrick's church. The property is valued at a little over $4000.

STRUCK BY AN AUTO

Woman Had a Narrow Escape From Serious Injury

Mrs. Catherine Balak, residing at 46 Lakewood avenue, had a narrow escape from being badly hurt about 11:30 o'clock this morning as a result of being struck by an automobile in Bridge street.

The woman, who is employed in the Massachusetts mills, was leaving the mill gateway in Bridge street and hurrying into the street, when she was struck by an automobile belonging to Mr. Charles E. Guthrie. Those who witnessed the accident claim that the operator of the machine was not to blame and that the woman ran in front of the car.

Mr. Guthrie with the assistance of several people picked the woman up and placed her in the automobile and she was hurried to St. John's hospital, where upon examination it was found that she was suffering from fracture of several ribs.

Inquiry at the hospital this afternoon brought forth the information that the woman's condition is not serious.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD

In a Room in a Hotel in Boston Today

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—An investigation was begun shortly before noon today of the death of a woman, which the police say was attended by suspicious circumstances early in the day in a hotel near the waterfront, much frequented by longshoremen.

The details of the affair were kept hidden by the police for several hours after the discovery of the body, and during that time no arrests were made. The police admitted later in the day that the woman came to the hotel last night with a man, who registered as

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Troy. The man left at 10 a. m. today, and an hour later the body of the woman was found with a discoloration under the left eye. Whether death was due to strangulation or alcoholism could not be determined until an autopsy had been held. Later it was decided that the woman's death was caused by a blow which fractured her nose and probably the base of the skull. The victim had not been identified up to 2 p. m., and the man had not been apprehended.

NO MORE GAMBLING

Supt. Welch Issues Orders to the Proprietors of Coffee Houses

As a result of a conference between Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department and proprietors of coffee houses in the Greek district held last night the "lid" on card playing has been removed and now the proprietors of the coffee houses will be allowed to play cards but if there is any gambling the owner of the place will lose his license.

Recently the police were informed that there was considerable gambling going on in the coffee houses in upper Market street and vicinity and as a result of a complaint made by a Greek it was shown in court that there was gaming in the place in question. The allow card playing to go on but he notified the proprietors of the different places that if there was any gambling the license would be revoked and they would not be able to secure another one.

In conversation with a reporter last night Supt. Welch made the following statement:

"After the protest entered by the proprietors of the coffee houses I personally made a full investigation of the conditions existing. I am acquainted with the records of many of the Greeks who appeared and know them to be honest business men, striving to make a living. Now in their native country it is a custom to spend their spare time in some favorite resort and sip coffee and play some innocent game of cards. Most of the men in this country have no home life to speak of, and consequently have no place to go but the coffee houses, or the street. Since the ruling of the board has gone into effect the streets in the Greek quarter have been crowded with the inhabitants, who had nothing to do and nowhere to go, as they did not wish to sit idle in the coffee houses, where there was nothing left to attract them. Then the proprietors must be considered. The patronage of their places fell away to nothing, and they were preparing to close their shops in short order.

"The investigation also revealed the fact that the gambling was confined to a very small proportion of the places and that in all the rest of the places the card playing was innocent and without stakes. The innocent proprietors have come to me with a straight proposition to work with me to stamp out the gambling in the quarter, by reporting all cases of it that come under their observation. For their own protection, they are forced to maintain the law for they are not open only under sufferance. It did not seem right to the board or to myself to make the innocent suffer for the misdeeds of one or two of the guilty, and so the permission has been given to allow the playing of cards for amusement and without stakes of any sort."

proprietor of the house was fined and his license revoked.

The board then decided to eliminate card playing and gaming in all of the coffee houses and with the intention of bettering conditions an order was issued whereby card playing was prohibited. Then the coffee house proprietors appealed to the board to allow them to have card playing in their places, claiming that if games were not allowed they could not do any business. The matter was referred to Supt. Welch and after a thorough investigation he decided that he would allow card playing to go on but he notified the proprietors of the different places that if there was any gambling the license would be revoked and they would not be able to secure another one.

THE IMPERIAL FAMILY

Changes Made in the Marriage Regulations

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 23.—The marriage regulations governing the members of the imperial family have been changed in an important particular by a recent imperial decree. Hitherto the statute concerning the imperial family incorporated in the fundamental laws prohibited members of that family from marrying any but persons belonging to a ruling or sovereign house. The only escape from this rule was in having a recourse to a morganatic marriage, involving a permanent estrangement from the imperial court.

The emperor has now lowered the bars for the more remote issue of emperors. Grandchildren and granddaughters only are henceforth prohibited from marrying outside reigning houses. As the grandchild title appertains only to grandsons or granddaughters of emperors, in the male line, and to daughters only, in the female line, and not beyond the princes of the imperial blood, as the more remote issue is called, gain liberty to marry.

It is thought that the immediate occasion which led to this change was the case of Princess Tatiana Constantinovna, daughter of Grandduke Constantin, and sister of Prince John, who recently married Princess Helene of Serbia.

Princess Tatiana fell in love with an officer of the Hussars, Prince Bagration-Mukhransky, an intimate friend of her brother, Prince Alexander, who is son of a lieutenant general, and bears a family name distinguished in Russian military annals, is highly thought of at court, and the persistence of the young princess was successful in overcoming the statutory obstacle to the romance. The two were married on Sept. 5.

A form of polygamy frequent and officially tolerated in Russia has been read out of existence by a recent senatorial interpretation regarding the status of converts to the state church from among a dissident sect, the Old-believers, numbering millions of adherents.

The senate rules that Old-believers, who are legally married according to the regulations of their sect, may not contract a new marriage, until their first union is legally dissolved. Under these circumstances, declares the senate, marrying a new wife, before the old one has been divorced, will be regarded as polygamy, and so prosecuted, under the law.

The practice hitherto has been to allow a new marriage, under the circumstances, and consider the old marriage non-valid, for orthodox converts, though Old-believer marriages as such were sanctioned by the law of 1811. The effect of the practice was to encourage Old-believers to join the state church with little particular end in view. In those cases, the old marriage was considered void, and all marital and paternal obligations annulled. Orthodox missionaries made use of this temptation. The flagrant injustice, leading thousands of dissident wives, leading in many cases to hardships and to suicide, at last forced the authorities to action.

Runaway Boys

WERE FOUND IN A HOTEL AT NEWPORT, ME.

NEWPORT, Me., Sept. 23.—The identity of the two boys who have been guests at the Shaw house in this town since last Saturday night has been established.

The boys are Alvin Hall and Charles Ray of Lynn, Mass., and they are members of a party of five boys who left their homes in that city some two weeks ago to see the world.

It is understood here that when they left home they had about $200. The boys, according to the local police, went to New York and Montreal, finally separating, three of them landing in Portland from the Canadian city. From Portland, Hall and Ray proceeded north, intending to go hunting in the north woods. They came here last Saturday night, and at the hotel gave their names as Dan and David Hussey.

Yesterday the chief of police in Lynn communicated with Chief Heffron of this town, and it was not long before the correct names of the youngsters were learned.

ON THE BLACKLIST

MEN CANNOT BUY SEASON TICKETS ON THE B. & A. ROAD

WORCESTER, Sept. 23.—According to information given out yesterday by Worcester ticket agents of the B. & A. railroad there are 25 men in Worcester who have been placed on the company's blacklist and cannot purchase a season ticket on the run between Worcester and Boston.

For several months railroad officials have been investigating reports that certain Worcester men have been in the habit of loaning their season tickets to friends for an occasional trip to Boston.

A special watch has been kept for the past few weeks and it was given out today that the company has 25 season ticket holders "blacklisted."

Some of them have already been refused season tickets when their old ones ran out and others on the blacklist will not learn of it until they try to buy new season tickets.

Hereafter they will have to pay regular fares or else ride on millage books. Some of the men affected have had their tickets taken up on the trains.

COLLEGE TEAMS MEET

The Football Season Opened in Earnest This Afternoon

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—The final scenes in the American sports for 1911 and the opening of the intercollegiate season year, will begin today with football games on a dozen college grids in the east.

The games today will be between what might be called minor colleges, for Cornell, Dartmouth and Lehigh do not get into the running until next Wednesday.

Three of the Maine colleges, Bates, Colby and the University of Maine will play their first games today, while Holy Cross, Lafayette, Carleton, Gettysburg, Virginia and Ursinus are also on the schedule for their initial tests.

All of these colleges have opponents that have in former years have proven slightly inferior, so that high scores, even with shortened periods are anticipated.

The work of Bates against New Hampshire State, of Holy Cross against Boston college and of Gettysburg against Middlebury, will attract the most attention, for a week hence, Bates meets Harvard, Holy Cross plays Yale and Gettysburg wrestles with Pennsylvania.

The game between Ursinus and Steelton is also of interest for the former meets Pennsylvania two weeks from today and the Quakers are particularly anxious to wipe out last year's defeat.

While the major colleges have no games for today their football representatives will be on the home grids undergoing the hardest link of training, for nearly all the teams have made late starts this year, with the idea of developing fast men without danger of their going stale.

The open game of last year remains unchanged and with a better understanding of the rules, good judges of the most popular of intercollegiate sports, expect enormous crowds, especially as the evening progresses, and mighty multitudes at its climax in the Harvard and Yale game in the big stadium on the banks of the Charles and at the Army-Navy battle.

The games scheduled for today are as follows:

New Hampshire vs. Bates at Durham.

Colby vs. Hebron at Waterville.

University of Maine vs. Fort McKinley at Orono.

Massachusetts Agricultural college vs. Amherst Island State Agriculture at Amherst.

Holy Cross vs. Boston college at Worcester.

Connecticut state vs. Rockville at Storrs.

Lafayette vs. Bloomsburg at Easton.

Rensselaer vs. Clarkson at Troy.

Carleton vs. Libanon Valley at Carleton.

Gettysburg vs. Middletown at Gettysburg.

Ursinus vs. Steelton at Ursinus.

Virginia vs. Hampden-Sydney at Charlottesville.

FOOTBALL EXPERTS

ARE HARD AT WORK ON THE NEW RULES

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—That college gridiron will this year stage the most interesting and successful season of football in the history of the sport was the opinion expressed by the high officials of the game here today.

That nearly a hundred and fifty coaches and football veterans from all parts of eastern football territory were in New York this morning after holding their annual conference last night for the final interpretation of the rules prior to the season's opening games.

"The game this year will move along smoother than in 1910," declared Walter Camp. "Last year was satisfactory, but there were occasional hitches on account of lack of familiarity with the new code. The coming season, with the few changes that have been made in the playing rules, will find the work of officiating at the game easier and moreover the players will be better versed. Consequently occasions for discussion of points in the rules will be less likely to occur."

For the first time in three seasons, the coaches are not hampered by the necessity of teaching a comparatively new system of attack and defense. "The rules are practically the same as those of last year," declared the Pennsylvania representative, and the thorough drilling of the players last year will furnish a groundwork this year for some elaborate training in new plays.

There is to be no complaint this year in delay in naming officials at the various contests according to Dr. Rabbitt of the central board. Most of the assignments of officials, he said, will be decided and published earlier than in previous years and the board expects to have its appointments accepted without trouble. The meeting of the football men here last night was entirely harmonious. It turned out that most of the misunderstandings regarding the rules were due to mistakes or oversight in editing the code as published a few weeks ago. In the main, Walter Camp and his advisers simply had to give the proper reading to decide the points in conflict.

LIGHTING CONTRACT

For Town of Chelmsford

Has Been Signed

The lighting contract for the town of Chelmsford has been signed by the selection of the latter place and the Lowell Electric Light corporation of this city, and it is expected that the entire system will be completed in about three months. The hearing on the pole locations has been set for Oct. 4, and the work of constructing the 12 miles of pole line will probably be done by the Bruce-Hubbard company of Fitchburg, who are now building lines in Westford for the Electric corporation in connection with Westford's five year contract for street lighting.

The selection have been able to secure from the corporation its consent to the lighting schedule of the 10 lamps in East Chelmsford from the all night schedule, which has prevailed in that section for three years, to the 12.30 o'clock schedule. This will save them a total of $27.50 per year.

The new lighting system will save $1100 per year in the territory at present lighted with oil, gas and electricity. The lamps will burn every night from 12.30 until 12.30 a. m., and in the winter months the lights will also burn from 5.30 in the morning until daylight. By the contract the town is protected from damage suits relating to pole, wires, etc.

THE GREEK SCHOOL

THERE ARE 87 PUPILS REGISTERED ALREADY

There are 87 pupils registered at the Greek school in the basement of the Orthodox church, at the corner of Lewis and Jefferson streets, and it is expected that the number will be increased to 100 within a few days. Miss Penelope Mazy, who was expected to teach at the school this year, will not return, but Gerastinos Pangas, who taught the English courses, will be one of the teachers. Miss Florence Moson, who taught English courses at the school, will not be there this year. In her place Miss Margaret Laug will teach.

THE DR. SMITH CASE

Trial Will Be Resumed in the Superior Court on Monday

The presentation of the government's case in the trial of Dr. Summer P. Smith of this city, charged with having performed an illegal operation on Miss Katherine G. Reark, also of this city, which opened before Judge McLaughlin in the superior court at Cambridge Thursday afternoon, was practically concluded shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

It was agreed between counsel that Miss Reark became delirious at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 13. The dying declaration was signed by her between 12:35 and 1 o'clock p. m.

The district attorney suspended his examination at this time in order to allow Lowell physicians to testify as to the defendant's reputation. Dr. Leonard G. Huntress was the first witness called and he said he had known Dr. Smith for 25 or 30 years and that the latter's reputation in the community was excellent.

Among the other physicians who testified as to the good character of the defendant were Dr. William A. Johnson, Dr. Ralph W. Parker and Dr. Willis G. Eaton.

Shortly after 4 o'clock court was adjourned till Monday morning.

OUR LOCAL EXPORTS

To Be Increased By Action of Bureau of Commerce

The department of commerce and labor is making a laudable effort to increase the export trade of the New England industries. It will be remembered that a short time ago Mr. E. A. Brand visited this city to bring before the manufacturers the various ways in which they may increase their export business. The consular reports frequently contain information that would assist manufacturers in securing foreign trade.

Secretary Murphy of the board of trade and Mr. Brand have given up a circular to be sent to about 400 manufacturers in this city with a form provided for the purpose of assisting the department in aiding each individual manufacturer.

The correspondence is as follows: September 21, 1911.

Mr. John H. Murphy, Secretary Board of Trade, Lowell, Mass.

Sir:—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 19th instant and also the envelopes under separate cover. There is enclosed herewith a copy of a letter which has this day been sent to each of those for whom you forwarded addressed envelopes.

Respectfully,
D. A. Skinner,
Acting Chief of Bureau.

Sir:—In accordance with a plan outlined by Mr. E. A. Brand, commercial agent of the bureau of manufactures and Mr. John H. Murphy, secretary of the Lowell board of trade, I beg to inclose herewith two copies of form 57 of this bureau, which it is requested you fill out in duplicate and send to Mr. John H. Murphy, secretary of the board of trade, Lowell, Mass., who will retain one copy for his files and transmit the other to this bureau. If your response indicates that you are interested in export trade, your name will be recorded in the bureau, and such information in regard to foreign trade in your lines as is received by this office from time to time will be transmitted to you. Respectfully,
Chief of Bureau.

D. & M. REPAIR SHOPS

The Work of Clearing Land in Billerica Progressing Rapidly

The work of clearing and grading the 600 acres of land in Billerica where the large repair shops of the Boston & Maine railroad are to be located is progressing rapidly. A big gang of men is at work grading, and each succeeding day finds a great improvement in the place. What was a dense forest, land covered with a heavy underbrush, and in some places swampy ground, several months ago, is now rapidly being transformed into a clear and level tract of ground.

The elevations and depressions were very irregular prior to the time that the workmen started to bring the place to grade. There were high hills at some points and deep swamps in other parts. The hills are being reduced and the earth dumped into the lowlands.

Engineer S. P. Coffin, who has general charge of the work, has made great progress, and people who have occasion to visit the site from time to time marvel at the wonderful change that has accompanied this far. He has a gang of about 200 men at work, and since the work was started 70,000 yards of material have been removed and at the present time there are about 30 acres of land which have been brought to grade.

When the work of clearing the land was started it was expected that it would be necessary to drive piles in what is known as section two, or the middle section, where the buildings are to be located, but in conversation with a representative of the city and the railroad, it was found that the earth was so good that in all probability it will not be necessary to use the piles.

There are three steam shovels in operation, which are rapidly eating away the hills. Two of the steam shovels are located in section three, which is adjacent to the main line of the railroad tracks between Lowell and Boston, while the other shovel is in section one, the latter being nearer to Billerica Centre.

There are about 50 ordinary dump-cars in operation in the different sections, but these are rather crude as compared with the 12 dump-cars which are supplied by compressed air. This is the latest, the most efficient and the most material in the progress of the work.

After the cars deposit their material, what is known as a shoulder or spreader machine, but which looks something like a snowplow, is used for spreading the earth into the lowlands and swampy parts. Just as soon as the earth has been packed in, the portable rails are moved over several feet and the work of filling in progresses.

There are many places on the site where there are small ridges and it would not be practical to go to the expense and bother of constructing special lines of track so in these places horse shovels are used. W. Keorrey of North Billerica has 11 two horse shovels at work and the men employed in this special work are making good progress. As the shovels, which are drawn by a pair of horses, approach a high place the nose of the shovel is put into the dirt and after the shovel is full the dirt is carted off to lower land.

Clifford Toranger of this city, who has charge of the clearing away of timber is working hard but he has al-

TWO MEN ARE KILLED

They Were Crushed Beneath a Pullman Car

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Two railroad men were killed and another was probably fatally injured early today in an unusual accident at the Melrose yards of the New York Central railroad in the Bronx. The trio were working under a Pullman dining car which had been passing over a trestle over the track and struck the Pullman, driving it ahead and crushing the workmen beneath it.

Albin Lorend and Joseph Lores, car repairers, were killed and John Dalley, a brakeman, probably will die. How the four coaches, which were standing empty on a siding, happened to start moving has not been explained.

ANNUAL OUTING

OF THE EMPLOYEES OF THE POST-OFFICE

The sixth annual outing of the employees of the Lowell postoffice will be held at Mud Pond, near Lake Massabesic, tomorrow afternoon and it is expected that there will be a large attendance. Practically every employee of the office will be in attendance and a number of out-of-town postal employees are also expected to be on the scene. It is needless to say that the affair will be a grand success for George L. Adams and John Sheehan have charge of the arrangements.

Will Tender Their Resignations Next Week

MONTREAL, Sept. 23.—The liberal ministers, those defeated in Thursday's election, as well as the few who saved their seats will meet in Ottawa the coming week to wind up the affairs of the political government and to tender their resignations to the governor-general. They also will consider plans for the re-organization of their party.

As to the future policy of the party, which went down to defeat on the question of closer trade relations with the United States, it is too early yet to say definitely what that will be. Prominent liberals here, however, express the opinion that the party will not recant its belief that the trade reciprocity would be a good thing for both countries and that they will at the first and most favorable opportunity again appeal to the people of Canada to sustain them in that belief.

The leaders lay much of the reason for their defeat upon the present unpopularity of the opinion that the party which the Dominion is now passing, which they say was the reluctance of the people to disturb this condition more than any other thing, which brought about the defeat of reciprocity. They argue, furthermore, that as trade conditions are known to ebb and flow like a tidal wave, the time cannot be far distant when the Dominion will begin to sustain setback, and that they neither desire nor are ready to predict hard times under the incoming high tariff government they believe that the first appearance of a trade recession will reopen the question as to whether the Dominion did wisely in rejecting the larger markets the United States offered to them. Upon the negative answer to this question some of the liberal organizers believe that their party will be restored to power.

NEW HAVEN ROAD

TO HAVE INSPECTOR OF THE COMPANY'S WAREHOUSES

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 23.—The Hartford Times this afternoon says that the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company has found it necessary, it is claimed, to appoint a permanent inspector of the company's freight warehouses in this city and that such inspectors are to be put on duty at all other large centers of freight shipments and transfers.

The Times further says: "It is stated that recent investigation of the freight business of the company has disclosed the fact that a large percentage of the shippers have been giving estimated weights on bills of lading that have been found to be short weights and that in this manner the company has suffered an enormous loss. One special agent who has been investigating the matter says that he has found that the large bills of lading may yield revenue enough to meet the whole dividend on the company's stock."

OLD HAMILTON WALL CAUCUS DRAWS NEAR

The Work of Tearing It Down is Progressing

The work of tearing down the old Hamilton wall in Central street is progressing rapidly under the supervision of Contractor Charles P. Conant, who was awarded the contract for the Bradley building to be erected on that site. The task of demolishing the wall as well as the high brick chimney is quite an important and dangerous one, but under the direction of Mr. Richardson, foreman for Mr. Conant, all is going smoothly and nicely.

The Hamilton company has a shift of men at work under the direction of Contractor O'Hearn excavating a passageway under the mill building next to Howard's drug store, this to serve as a driveway for the Bradley building.

The men have not as yet started demolishing the chimney, but this work will be begun in a few days, and although it is of a very dangerous nature, it is expected that it will be done without any accident.

As soon as one end of the site is cleared away, the construction of the Bradley building will be started. This building is to measure 251 feet in length and 60 feet deep. It will be two stories high and the first floor will contain 15 stores, 57 feet deep and 15 feet in height. Each store according to plans will have a separate basement.

and the entire front will be of plate glass. Each store entrance will be of marble, mosaic style.

The second floor of the building will contain 36 offices of various dimensions, those on the front to be equipped with pivot windows. There will be two entrances to the building with marble wainscoting to the second floor, as well as marble stairs. The entrances at the two ends of the building will have marble over them to extend from the building line to the curbstone.

The Bradley building will extend from Howard's drug store to the buildings on the canal bridge with a driveway all along the rear of the building.

Will Cost $100,000

The contract for the New England Telephone & Telegraph Building in Appleton street has been given to Contractor Daniel H. Walker. The building will cost about $100,000, and the work will be started as soon as the land is cleared with the debris of the former building. It is understood that Frank L. Weaver has the contract for the roofing of the building.

Contractor Ayila Sawyer has started the construction of a cottage house in Parker street after completing a two-story apartment house on the same street.

A GREAT RECEPTION

Will be Tendered the Next Premier of Canada

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 23.—The next premier of Canada, Robert L. Borden left Halifax today for Ottawa, where it is understood he will be accorded a notable reception.

On his way to the capital Mr. Borden will stop at Montreal for an informal conference with the conservative leaders of Quebec province at which it is expected that the subject of Quebec's representation in the cabinet will be considered.

Mr. Borden has not even arranged a tentative cabinet roster, although the strongest parliamentary leaders from each of the larger provinces will be asked to enter the new government. It is expected that the new western provinces will be given adequate recognition, as their population entitles them to a larger representation in the house of commons than they now have. It is considered doubtful if Prince Edward Island which sends only four members of parliament to Ottawa, has representation in the cabinet.

Because of the development and expansion of the western country a redistribution of parliamentary seats, giving Manitoba, Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia greater strength in the house of commons, will be introduced in parliament. Most of the other provinces will also be affected, and another general election in 1913 is anticipated.

In conservative circles it is stated that the new premier will endeavor to have Quebec province strongly represented in the cabinet, with the idea of building up the conservative party in that province.

PREMIER LAURIER

TO REMAIN IN PARLIAMENT FOR SOME TIME

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 23.—"I will remain in parliament as leader of the opposition for some time. I should be a deserter of my party if I ran away now," stated Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the newspapermen today. Sir Wilfrid said that he had intended to retire and doubt would do so after some time, but not immediately. He will undoubtedly go through the next session as leader of the opposition. The prime minister stated that the government would resign as soon as possible, to enable Earl Grey to leave Canada and the Duke of Connaught to succeed him as governor general.

THE DIRECT PRIMARIES

Made Campaign For State Officers Most Interesting

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—The advent of the direct primaries in Massachusetts political methods this year has made the campaign for party nominations which practically closes today one of the most interesting in many years, especially the triangular struggle for the republican nomination for governor between Lieut. Gov. Louis A. Frothingham, Speaker Joseph Walker of the house and Representative Norman H. White.

For many years the republican leaders have followed the succession to office method of selecting the party candidate for governor by allowing the lieutenant-governor three terms in order to become acquainted with the state house business and then advancing him to full governorship. What there have been breaks in the chain at times, this system has prevailed for nearly half a century.

This year Speaker Walker and Representative White have made an effort to break the chain again in opposing the candidacy of Lieut. Governor Frothingham, who desires a chance to run for governor against the present incumbent, Eugene N. Foss.

Mr. Frothingham has based his plea for the nomination upon his three years' experience at the state house and the fact that he defeated Gov. Foss, when the two were opposing candidates for lieutenant-governor two years ago.

Speaker Walker's claims to leadership are that he represents more nearly the ideas of President Taft, that he is opposed to the party machine in this state and is mildly progressive, especially on the tariff.

Representative White has been by far the most aggressive of the three candidates, denouncing the party machine on the one hand and Gov. Foss on the other. His voice has been heard in nearly every one of the 353 cities and towns of the state.

For nomination in the democratic ticket Gov. Foss is opposed by Thomas J. Higen of Springfield, who led the independence league in the national campaign three years ago. Neither has been on the stump for the primaries and friends of the governor do not anticipate material strength on the part of the Higen followers.

A WOMAN CLAIMANT

For the Reward Offered in the Tucker Case

WESTON, Mass., Sept. 23.—A mysterious and unexpected claimant for the reward of $2500 offered seven years ago for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Miss Mabel Page of this town, for whose murder Charles L. Tucker of Auburn state prison, appeared here this afternoon in the person of a woman. The new claimant refused to tell her name, but said that her initials were "M. J. S." According to her story she is a fortune teller and furnished the authorities with the description of Miss Page's slayer and upon the strength of her description, she declares, Tucker was arrested.

Chief of Police McAuliffe said today that he remembered the woman. She

Candidates Are Now on a Lively Hustle to Catch Votes

Up to this morning one would hardly know that a great state campaign was in progress so quietly have the candidates been working. Today's papers, however, prove the fact that caucus day is nigh for on nearly every page appears the hopeful visage of and a few words relative to some candidate or another.

The fact that the campaign has been quiet does not indicate that the candidates have not been active, for on the contrary some of them, especially those whose districts include the outlying towns have worked as they never worked before. The new direct nomination law does away with the convention and its pledged and unpledged delegates, some of whom never "stayed put" and solicited the voter personally and hence the great chasing around to the different country towns. Even the candidates for head of the ticket must be nominated by popular vote which calls for much more personal campaigning from them than they ever experienced before.

For Register of Deeds
In the local campaign practically all of the contests are on the republican side. Continued to last page

REV. J. H. PARADIS

Tendered Reception at French M. E. Mission

Rev. J. H. Paradis, who has returned to this city to resume his religious work where he left it two years ago, was tendered an informal reception at the French M. E. mission of the Centralville M. E. church last night. For the last two years Mr. Paradis has been conducting a French mission near New Orleans and it was by special request of the pastor and congregation of the Centralville M. E. church, and by appointment of the district superintendent Mr. Paradis returned to Lowell to resume his religious duties here.

The reception last night proved a pleasant occasion. A very pleasing program had been arranged by Mrs. Mary Chapdelaine. It contained the following numbers: Piano solo, Miss Marion Lewis; solo by Mr. J. H. Paradis, accompanied by Mr. Lewis Sarre; duet, Misses Simonne Chapdelaine and Alice Bluet; and a talk, "The Old Violin," by Mrs. John Corbin.

Later in the evening refreshments were served and the evening as a whole, was a very pleasant and a very profitable one.

LINEN SHOWER

WAS TENDERED TO MISS CORA HEBERT

A pretty gathering of friends took place last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hebert, 36 Essex street, the occasion being a linen shower in honor of their daughter, Miss Cora Hebert, who Monday morning will be united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. J. H. Charbon of Canada. The ceremony to be performed at a nuptial mass celebrated at 7 o'clock at St. Louis church.

The hostess of the evening was presented with numerous linen gifts. She responded in a fitting manner and a pleasant evening followed, a fine musical program being given by the following young ladies: Misses Pearl Elton, Regina Caron, Eva and Alma Leclerc, Clara Charron, Clemence Simard, Graciele Dupuis, Eva Racette, Gertrude St. Oenge and the Misses Hebert, including the future bride.

A light lunch was served and was a laudable when the guests departed, extending their thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Hebert for their cordial hospitality as well as their best wishes to the future bride.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

Woman's Hair Caught in a Machine

Sarah Dakera, who was employed in the Bigelow Carpet Co., suffered a bad accident at 5:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when her hair was caught in a machine at her work. Before the woman could get away from her perilous position she was badly injured. The ambulance was called and the injured woman was removed to the Lowell hospital.

GIRL THIEVES

WERE ARRESTED IN A RAID IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—In a raid led by Police Captain Coleman, of the Greenpoint avenue station, on the second floor rooms in a dwelling at No. 223 Clark street, Williamsburg, yesterday there was brought to light a thieves' den for girls which also as alleged had a fagan who had taught the little inmates the art of stealing.

There were fifteen girls in the rooms when the police entered. A wild scramble followed in their attempts to get out. All but five escaped by the rear escape. Those who were arrested were Florence Herrick, seventeen years old, of No. 150 Franklin street; Anna Pachner, nineteen years old, of No. 150 North Fourth street; Jeanette Davis, fifteen years old, who refused to give her address, and two cousins, Julia and Juliet McCormick, fourteen and nineteen years old, who told the police they had been abandoned by their parents.

In the room were found a large amount of clean wash which had been stolen from clothes lines on roofs.

The three younger girls were taken to the shelter of the Children's society, while the other two were arraigned in the Manhattan avenue police court, where at the request of the police, Magistrate Nauman remanded them. The police are looking for the other girl.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

Earl Jr., Gave His Rivals a Great Trimming at Detroit

DETROIT, Sept. 23.—Earl Jr., the iron-sided bread-winner of the Cox stable gave his two rivals a bad beating at the state fair grand circuit races yesterday. There had been so much dispute as to the relative merits of this gray fellow, Evelyn W. and Independence Boy that an enormous crowd was on hand.

It may have been that the others could not negotiate the heavy going, but Earl Jr. tripped through it, the last half of the final heat in 1.01, and winning each mile under restraint.

Local papers fought it out for honors in the 2.12 class race, and there was a bit of scandal in the 2.20 trot. The track dried in spots, but the inside half of the home stretch was muddy in the early afternoon and automobiles were pressed into service to iron it out, while a light heavy hitched to another motor car stirred up the surface.

In the first event the pole horse scored in the middle of the track, but an hour later they were tramping along on the inside rail.

As racing did not start till 2.55 o'clock it was impossible to clear up the yard for the day, so it will be rescheduled at 1 o'clock tomorrow, and as they are five new races and one unfinished, the week-end promises to be notable.

Earl Jr. Second Choice.
The free for all race was the class of the card. It proved to be somewhat of a speculative affair, and Evelyn W. sold for $30, Earl Jr. $25, Independence Boy $10 and Ess H. Kay $4. Away to a good start, Independence Boy, from the inside position, led Ess H. Kay and Earl around the bend.

Evelyn W. moved up as they reached the backstretch, and when past the three-eighths, Ess H. Kay broke, Evelyn W. leading Independence Boy by a neck at the half with Earl right on top of them. They had stepped the half in 1.05, and then they began to hustle, the third quarter being in 39 seconds, with Evelyn and Independence Boy fighting it out and Earl within striking distance.

Cox came down the outside with Earl Jr. and overhauling the others at the seven-eighths, he won alone, the mile in 2.03, being splendid for the condition of the track.

Wins Under a Pull.
In the second heat Earl Jr. went out to the front, Evelyn, Independence Boy and Ess H. Kay in the order behind him at the quarter. They were lengths apart at the half in 1.06 and Earl Jr. stayed right in front around the bend in 30 1/2 seconds, being first into the stretch and winning under restraint, the last half in 1.01. Evelyn came fast at the end and even Ess H. Kay outstepped Independence Boy and made him divide, third and fourth money.

The unfinished 2.07 pace, in which Sunny Jim had won the first heat on Wednesday and Rollins, the second was quickly despatched. The crowd was in wrong, picking Sunny Jim at $25, while Rollins brought $17 and the field about the same amount.

Shaughnessy showed them the way, Rollins trailing and when the stretch was reached Rollins and Shaughnessy were busy with their whips, The Liar winning by two lengths.

Mabel J hooked onto The Liar from the start of the second heat and while she was lapped on the far turn she never headed the stallion. The Liar drew away at the head of the stretch, but again Mabel came and the teamsters went to the bat, while the upstate folks enthused and The Liar won by a length.

If Stephen A. and Omlene ever were going to come to light now was the time and Stephen went out to race with The Liar in the third heat. The Liar led by half a length along the back stretch, but Stephen faded away at the three-quarters and Omlene took up the stretch chase. The Liar took a good whipping and landed the heat and race.

The Liar Proves Fast.
The 2.12 pace had a small field of five and the gray Stephen A. was picked as the best mudder, bringing $25, while Omlene sold at $21, Dora J. at $7 and the field, with the two local horses, The Liar and Mabel J. at $7.

Cores took The Liar, right to the front and his lead increased to four lengths at the half, Mabel J. came after him in the stretch and Cores and Cunningham were busy with their whips, The Liar winning by two lengths.

The Liar drew away at the head of the stretch, but again Mabel came and the teamsters went to the bat, while the upstate folks enthused and The Liar won by a length.

Driver Under Suspicion.
The 2.20 trot was not so easily disposed of, as four heats were raced and the finish went over until tomorrow. Lady Willow sold for $25 and the field for $15. Dr. Coy went out to the front 1200.

In the first heat and led Lady Willow by a neck at the half.

Before the last turn was reached Geers had taken the lead with Lady Willow and she stayed there with "Pop" looking back in the last part. Helen Wilstar was an easy second and the judges did not like the drive Richley put up with her, but gave him another chance.

Dr. Coy and Pretoria Mc were about even terms at the half in the next heat, with Lady Willow close, and on the turn Geers moved up to second with her, coming down the outside of the stretch and winning handsly. Helen Wilstar was again second and was not urged any in the final eighth.

Derrick for Richley.
When they came out for the third heat, the judges yanked Richley and put Ed Benyon up behind Helen Wilstar and after trailing Clodagh for a part of the way, Benyon let his mare step into the lead. Geers was a little farther back in the stretch when he started his drive and, although Lady Willow came very fast and to many looked to win, Helen Wilstar lasted long enough to beat her a head.

Helen Wilstar was out in front all the way in the fourth heat, which was trotted in growing dusk. Lady Willow was lapped on her along the back stretch, dropped back a little on the turn and came again in the last part. Both men went to a drive and Helen Wilstar won by a length. The summary:

HARVARD MEN ARE BUSY
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 23.—Harvard is losing no time this fall in getting down to real football now that the men are beginning to round into good physical condition. As yet there has been no outside kicking at Harvard, but the forward pass has come in for much use. Potter, Gardiner and Wigglesworth are beginning to show proficiency, while "Bud" Smith remains as he was last year, the keenest man among the ends for handling the passes. Now that Felton is settled for an end he will be worked hard in order that he may be used with Smith for forward pass maneuvers. Wigglesworth has improved since last fall and has developed as a drop kicker. He made one pretty goal recently. Captain Fisher still remains out of the lineup, and possibly not until the game will it be known finally whether he will start as tackle as he wishes to do, or whether the coaches will convince him to remain at guard, where he has played two years and where last fall he was an All American choice.

PLAYERS ARE INJURED
First Accidents of the Football Season

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—School football in Greater Boston claimed its first victims in serious accidents yesterday. G. E. Dean, quarterback of the Woburn High team, suffered a fracture of the femur bone in the game at Milton with Milton High. In the last period Dean, running with the ball, broke around Milton's right end for a 10-yard gain. Gustafson right end for Milton, dashed after the little quarterback and brought him down after a hard tackle.

Dean was unable to rise. The officials and coaches worked over the player, but the injury required a doctor's attendance. He was carried to the office of Dr. C. A. Roe, who after dressing the injury, ordered him taken in an automobile to the Choate hospital in Woburn. Dr. Roe stated that Dean would be out of the game for the rest of the season.

During a rudimentary drill at the English high practice O. R. Beauvais, a promising candidate, suffered a fracture of the shoulder blade as a result of a poor fall on the ball. He will be unable to play for four weeks.

YALE HAS FOOTBALL FIND IN ANDERSON; ALL WESTERN

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 23.—In the had heard so much about Yale that football squad for this fall it looks as he decided to come east and try for if Yale has a wonder in Anderson, the team. He is a hard player, and The westerner was here last year, but this is shown even in the simple early because he had played football before. Now, he reminds one very much of the Looking back further the coaches find early game of Hobbs. Close followers that, he had played football before with of the game at Yale think the univer, such strength and speed that he was [?] has a find in him. He may be All Western halfback two years ago, stocky and heavy, but there is no fat Anderson played on Wisconsin, but on him,

THE LOWELL SUN

JOHN H. HARRINGTON, Proprietor

SUN BUILDING, MERRIMACK SQUARE, LOWELL, MASS.

Member of the Associated Press

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1910 was

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 2, 1911. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

According to ex-President White of Cornell University, he is authority for the statement that ten years ago there were 117 murders annually to the million in the United States. Today the number is 126, while in Canada there are but seven murders to the million each year. That is a remarkable difference if it be true, but it can be explained by the greater density of population in this country together with the cosmopolitan character of our population; a feature that is not duplicated in Canada.

THE PRICE OF MILK

As usual the squabble over the price of milk in Boston winds up by the decision of the producers to increase the price to the extent of two cents per can. This may seem trifling, but it will be made the pretext for a much greater increase by the retailers. This action will have an effect similar to that usually following the announcement of an increase in the price of meat. The advance in the wholesale price may be trifling but it usually has a greater effect on the retail price. Some years ago there was a coal strike in Pennsylvania and after a great deal of trouble it was settled with the understanding that the price of coal would be advanced. The price was advanced and it has never since been reduced to the former figure. We presume that the recent increase in the price of milk will similarly be made permanent.

THE COMING PRIMARIES

The primary elections to be held throughout the state next Tuesday will be conducted under the new primary election law and should, therefore, bring out a larger attendance than usual. In spite of last year's enrolment the voters can select their ticket at the coming primaries without question. Apart from this there should be sufficient interest in the candidates seeking nomination to bring out a large attendance of the voters. It is fully as important for voters to exercise the franchise in the selection of candidates at the primaries as on election day. If the wrong men be nominated at the primaries the mistake cannot afterwards be corrected. From time to time there are various complaints against machine rule and the charge is made that the politicians run the caucuses. This is true only when a vast number of the voters fail to take sufficient interest in politics. It is the duty of every voter to go to the polls next Tuesday and register his choice for the nominees of his party ticket. It is by that means that the best men can be nominated and the undesirables driven to the rear.

SHALL WE HAVE VOTING MACHINES?

A question to be on the ballot at the state election will require every voter to say whether he will favor an amendment to the constitution so as to permit the use of voting machines at elections. The voting machine if reasonably perfect would greatly facilitate the counting of votes and would prevent such confusion as has been witnessed in the state of Maine during the past week for the computation of the vote cast at the election. The time will come when the present bungling system of counting will be abolished and the voting machine will do the work.

It was supposed that the law permitted the use of voting machines in this state and for a time a supreme court decision sanctioned their use but this decision was recently reversed and now the machines cannot be used unless the constitution be so amended as to provide for them. It seems that everybody should favor the change as in the line of progress. The voting machine is bound to come.

THE EFFECT OF DEFEATING RECIPROCITY

Sir Wilfrid Laurier went down in defeat in his fight for reciprocity before the combined forces of fraud, prejudice, hypocrisy and humbug. Mr. Laurier need not be ashamed of the result. He did all that any man could do to convince his deluded countrymen that the progress and welfare of Canada would be promoted by adopting the reciprocity pact.

But they disregarded Laurier, and listened to the men who circulated the annexation bogey in the interests of the American trusts. Speaker Champ Clark is largely responsible for first starting the annexation scare by a remark intended for a joke but taken up by the opponents of reciprocity, aggravated and treated as a threat against the independence of Canada. The Canadian manufacturers and doubtless the American also, opposed reciprocity by every means in their power, playing upon the prejudices of the people in regard to annexation and the claim that the American trusts would flood Canada with their goods so that the price of farm produce would be greatly reduced. The British Tories also assisted and there is reason to believe that they furnished financial aid to their Canadian brethren. They had used the annexation scare in the British parliament to confound the liberals but the brand of liberal in England is not so easily gulled as the Canadian article.

The question is asked: "Is reciprocity dead?" No, it is not dead; but the next appeal for it is not likely to come from the United States. Canada will get plenty of time to think it over and she may find the duties raised instead of lowered upon her exports to this country. The indirect results of the defeat of reciprocity will be far reaching. In the first place it will be a severe blow to the candidacy of President Taft. That of course will not cause any regret among democrats and it may help to elect a democratic president of the United States. In this there may be some compensation for the tariff reforms. The result will also, in all probability, cause the defeat of the arbitration treaty with England. That treaty awaits ratification by the United States senate and the opposition that was then shown to the treaty will be intensified by the defeat of reciprocity in Canada. It is safe to say that the peace treaty with England is fully as dead as the reciprocity pact. The United States can get along without reciprocity and also without any entangling alliance with England. Canada had an opportunity to advance her own trade and commerce as well as that of New England. She has rejected it and the loss is mainly her own. She has been duped by unscrupulous leaders who posed as her friends, but she will realize the gravity of her mistake in due time.

SEEN AND HEARD

Elsie M. Oates of Natick, Mass., widow of the late John W. Oates, well known veteran has presented a life sized picture of her husband to the city of Lowell to be hung in Memorial hall. With the picture goes the sword which he carried when in command of the Dahlgren Association of Naval Veterans.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at the recent reunion of the Bible class of which he is vice president, said of a somewhat abusive magazine writer: "He attacks his country's greatest men, but when I read his attacks I can't help thinking that he is rather like old uncle Rastus."

"Uncle Rastus, testifying in a certain lawsuit, refused to be sworn. 'Ah will affirm,' he said. 'But, uncle Rastus,' the judge said, 'how is this? Last week, in the Calhoun case, you swore readily enough.' 'Yo honah,' uncle Rastus solemnly said, 'ah was mo' sunn o' mah face in dat case dan in dis one.'—Detroit Free Press.

The novelty of having his hair trimmed by lady barber appealed to a mildly intoxicated clubman who entered an establishment where girls were employed as tondorialists. Loath to leave the chair after his hair had been trimmed, the clubman said to the girl:

"Now gimme a shave." The girl performed the task and awaited further instructions. "Guess you can put on a couple of hot towels," said the clubman. After the hot towels had been applied, the clubman enjoyed a face massage and permitted his hair to be anointed with perfume.

"Anything else?" sweetly asked the maid. Hesitating a moment as if to make up his mind, the clubman replied: "Yes; I guess you may put a couple of teeth."—Judge.

GOOD NIGHT

Did you ever stand outside the door? When the little chap's gone to bed, When Mamma has darkened the whole upstairs.

And listen to what is said? The upper floor, as I say is still, And the bathroom light is low And his room, wherein we have kissed "Good night."

Is as black as the blackest crow. He lies there, tucked to his chin in quilts. For the night outside is cold, As he bubbles and prattles about the slight.

That appear to a one-year old Who sees in the dark all those wonderful things. On the bedding about him piled That come in the stillness and inky black.

To watch o'er a sleeping child, In the mystical land where babies grow. They gather each night, with joy, To visit the ones they love latest lost, To look with a little boy, Who's lying abed in a darkened room, Awaiting the fairies' call, Which always takes place, as I've said before,

As soon as the shadows fall, They sit on his bed or fly about, And whisper and nod and smile

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Boston Journal: With reciprocity out of the way, the people of this side of the line can give more attention to undesirable conditions existing under their own tariff law. There is nothing left to show for all the agitation which has been going on since the Payne-Aldrich bill was foisted upon the country than the prospect that the tariff board will assist congress in producing revision which will be acceptable to the president. It is ridiculous to have all this wrangling and no advancing. The collapse of the reciprocity movement leaves it more than ever incumbent upon the statesmen at Washington to get together and straighten out their own tariff tangle. If they don't do it there will surely be another upheaval next year on this side of the line.

"I am more convinced than ever," says Mr. Medill McCormick, the La Follette bomber, "that the state is in urgent and only needs the proper leadership to show it." Mr. McCormick's convictions regarding Massachusetts republicanism may receive further support next Tuesday.

INSURGENT BOOMERS HERE
Boston Herald: The two western custodians of Senator La Follette's presidential boom who were in Boston yesterday to sound the sentiment of Massachusetts republicanism are said to have found the outlook good "for at least one delegate favorable to the aspirations of the Wisconsin statesman." That is in truth a very modest claim and is adequate evidence that Messrs. Medill McCormick and Rudolph Spreckel did not find much prospect in stirring up an anti-Taft movement in this commonwealth.

EXPORT TRADE

NATIONAL MOVEMENT TO BOOM IT STARTED
A national movement for the increase of foreign commerce will be inaugurated at the Second Annual convention of the American Manufacturers' Export association, to be held at the Hotel Astor in New York city on Sept. 25-26. Extensive plans are being formulated to improve the various channels of foreign trade, and a world-wide campaign will be undertaken in this direction. The movement will have the co-operation of the state department and the consular service.

The American Manufacturers' Export association is composed of leading export manufacturers of goods in this country, and the capitalization of its members is more than $800,000,000. The officers are: W. B. Campbell, president, Perkins Campbell company, Cincinnati, O.; vice presidents, J. K. Rogers, E. J. du Pont de Nemours Powder Co., Newburgh, N. Y.; D. F. Mitchell, Victor Talking Machine Co., Camden, N. J.; D. E. Delgado, Eastman Kodak Co., Rochester, N. Y.; treasurer, J. H. Cherry, Sargent & Co., New York; secretary, Henry T. Willis, New York city. Among the members of the organization are the General Electric Mfg. Co., Schenectady, N. Y.; Westinghouse Electric Co., New York; Carborundum Co., Niagara Falls, N. Y.; American Laundry Machinery Co., Cincinnati, O.; the Norton Co., Worcester, Mass.; Sherwin Williams Co., Newark, N. J.; Standard Underground Cable Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; H. J. Helms Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.; National Cash Register Co., Dayton, O.; Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, Pa.; J. J. Brill & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.; and J. A. & A. Bird & Co., Boston, Mass.

Addresses will be delivered at the convention by Mr. W. B. Campbell,

The Water of Eternal Youth

(From Home Queen)

The beauties of the Austrian court used a lotion which was so effective in keeping the face smooth and free from wrinkles, even in the aged, that they named it the "water of eternal youth."

Some one has recently divulged the secret of this wonderful, though exceedingly simple, wrinkle lotion, which in her gratitude she has similarly dubbed as a preserver of youth: One ounce pure sassafras (powdered), dissolved in a half pint of witch hazel—that's all there is to it. Any woman can get these ingredients at her drugstore; put them together, and use the solution with entire safety. To bathe the face in the same brings immediate results, even in case of the deeper wrinkles and furrows. This is also effective for hanging cheeks and double chin.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

If you are hankering for the very best vaudeville at a reasonable price admission, then don't fail to consider the offerings that are given from week to week at the Merrimack Square theatre, recognized as Lowell's amusement centre. Despite the fact that the prices are not the highest, the quality of entertainment is, and the number to the majority of its many thousands of patrons has been "how do they do it?" Every act that is presented at this playhouse comes highly recommended, and is always with the assurance that nothing better can be secured, that the management announces his bill from week to week. The offering the past week is a fair one on which to judge the excellent quality of entertainment which will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre during the winter months. If you missed it you certainly missed a big treat.

For the coming week the Frasier Troup, five men and women, in Irish and Scotch songs, dances and bagpip- ing, are to be featured in a new and original sketch that is said to be sim- ilarly filled with delightful amusement. This group enjoys the district of having won favor in all of the big cities of the east and after a short stay in these parts is due for a long run in the west. Previous to their coming to this country they performed in all of the cities of prominence in Europe.

"The Open Gate," a rural drama, and one of the best pieces by that noted playwright, Haddon Chambers, will be the offerings of Our Stock company. The play, classified among the highest types of short story sketches, will give Mr. Kendall and his associate players, which includes Beatrice Saville, a new acquisition.

The Dick Thompson company, in an Irish singing comedy sketch, "Erin Go Bragh," are delightful entertainers, and The Shillings, rifle sharpshooters, are expert marksmen, whose entertain- ment includes some novel stunts. In shooting Miss Anna McMahon will again be the week's novelties. The photo- plays are the products of the biggest American and foreign makers.

Sunday's sacred concert will include choice numbers, including Miss Abbel McKinley in new songs. Miss McKimley will appear but twice, in the after- noon at 4 o'clock and at night at 8:15. The others are Baldwin and Quinn, Francis and Carol, Miss May Whitely, The Wheelers, Nelson and Milledge, in a new act, and Rivnel and Miller. The photo-plays are the kind approved by the state. Telephone number 2053.

KEITH'S LOWELL THEATRE

"Will you kindly impress upon the minds of my patrons that there are no reserved seats for the Sunday concert at this theatre, and that 20 cents will admit to the main floor and the first balcony; and the admission to the second balcony will be 10 cents," said Mr. Will H. Stevens, manager of this theatre yesterday afternoon. In spite of the fact that much publicity was given to the announcement that there would be no reserved seats for the concert last Sunday afternoon and evening, the treasurer, Ben Pickett, was deluged with telephone requests for seat reservations for the concert.

The concert will continue through the winter months and spring, and it will be the aim of the management to book the acts obtainable which are in con- formance with the legal regulations concerning such performances. To- morrow the following acts will be given in addition to five reels of the latest moving picture films: Leo Carrello, with new stories, his experiences in newspaper work; the Romantic Quartet, high class operatic soloists; Hilda Hawthorne, the lady ventriloquist whose work is considered the best seen in this city; Cotter and Rouden, the star entertainers will tell in song and stories, funny things which happen to actors.

However, in the reading of this all star Sunday concert bill the localities who have not as yet attended the ex- cellent bill of this house, for this week, should remember that it will be given this afternoon and evening. They should not overlook it as it is an exceptional offering, which is head- ed by Rose Coghlan, the famous com- edy star, with Leo Carrello, dialect ac- tor, Hilda Hawthorne, ventriloquist; Thomas Moir and company in "The Iceman." The Great Santoli, in feats of lifting; Cotter and Rouden, accom- plished entertainers and kit Karson, sharpshooter. Reels of the latest pro- ductions in moving picture, photo- graphy close the bill. Next week's bill will include Dr. Carl Herman, a noted doctor and scientist who for the purpose of bringing the public to the full realization of the healing benefits of electricity has signed a contract with Mr. Keith, for a vaudeville engage- ment. Marian Knight and his com- pany in his own sketch "The Chalk Line," one of the rarest comedy treat- ings given local theatregoers; John Neff and Carrie Star, comedy stars, who will appear in "The Brainstorm Musician," and the telephone girl; Mr. and Mrs. Allison, wife of the "What Happened to Jones" company, in "At- tention," an act on funny happenings to a sledge girl; Harry Fantiell and Hilda Hawthorne, elite entertainers; Roeder and Lester, gymnasts and Emmet Brothers, terpsichorean artists and special moving pictures.

Seats may be reserved in advance by phoning 58—Adv.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Although the Donald Meek stock company has been presenting the best dramas since coming to this city, none has ever created such favorable criti- cism and has met with so general ap- proval as the dramatization of "The Darrier," the beautiful play of the great frozen north, which is founded upon the novel of the same title written by Rex Beach. The final performances of his drama will be given this afternoon and evening and although there has been a large sale of tickets for these two performances there are still many good seats left. The patrons of the theatre will hear with much pleasure of the intended presentation of the fun- niest play ever written, "Naughty Re-becca," a late contribution to the stage from Souchet, the French wit who has become to be considered with the lead- ing dramatists of the present age. In this comedy, Souchet uses as the lead- ing character, an old man, who has been a great "house mouse," with not one absentee mark made against his food and drink ordered he served he excuses himself and does not return. After a hilarious night in the cafe the old fellow returns home, in a rather im- presentable condition, he is met at the door by his wife, who demands an explanation of his conduct. After he has made a much fabricated expostu- lation of the happenings of the night she is just about to forgive him when a bracelet belonging to herself is re- turned by a gentleman, who says that it was found in the ball room of Burns the night before.

From the sinking piece of humanity trying to pacify the upset condition of his wife's mind the old fellow becomes angered at the return of the bracelet and forthwith demands a true account of her actions and the persons whom she associated with at Burns. The poor wife cannot account for the find- ing of the bracelet at the cafe and is about to make an explanation when her maid steps in and tells her that she "borrowed" her bracelet the night be- fore to look her prettiest at a social function and that she had had the mis- fortune of losing it.

Mr. Meek will assume the character of the old man, and assisted by Miss Horton, Mr. Fellows and William C. Walsh, a local boy, will no doubt pre- sent the funniest comedy ever given in this city.

Tickets are now on sale and may be ordered in advance by phone 511—Adv.

THEATRE VOYONS

The dramatic feature of the program at the Theatre Voyons today is "The Sheriff," an Edison story picture, with just a bit of western flavor. It is not too strong on shooting and its story is a sweet, clean and interesting one, full of human touches. "Dan the Dandy," the biograph comedy, is a somewhat different picture, full of the right kind of laughs. Pathe's weekly shows among other things President Taft and the G. A. R. veterans at Roches- ter, the railroad wreck at Middletown, Conn., auto races at Berlin, Ill., and Bordeaux, France, Emperor William of Germany at the head of the Colorad- ers company, and Aviator Alwood making his start from Nyack, N. Y., on the last lap of his Chicago-New York trip.—Adv.

FRENCH REPLY APPROVED

PARIS, Sept. 23.—The cabinet met with President Fallieres at his residence in Rambouillet today, when a French reply to Germany's last suggestion for an agreement concerning Morocco was approved unani- mously.

The reply was submitted by Premier Caillaux and Foreign Minister Desseles. Since Germany's proposals were drawn after two long con- versations between the German minister of foreign affairs, Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter, and the French ambassador, M. Cambon, it will probably be found that France has accepted the arrangement proposed regarding Moroc- co itself, the question remaining for settlement being the details of the cession to Germany in French-Congo.

ZELMA SEARS IN "THE NEST EGG"

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"The Girl in the Taxi" drew a large audience to the Opera house last night and all were well repaid for their trouble, for the play scored one grand success.

The play deals with the model Stear- art family, of whom Bertie, 20 years of age, is the angel who was never in love or "made a night of it," while the senior Stewart has one feeling, the impulse of "making a night of it," on hearing the song "Home, Sweet Home." He hears it and goes. The son Bertie hears it for it is the signal agreed upon between him and a Broadway belle. The invalid, "Percy Peters" also flies himself to the cafe selected by the entire aggregation, and it is not difficult to imagine the complications that occur, when that crowd of gay deceivers meet each other in the cafe Churchill.

But the morning after, at first it seems as though the two deceivers of the Stewart family are to get away with a clean state, but along comes the husband of the belle who entertained the "boys," old and young and gives the whole snap away. Well, in the end everybody knows what the other did the night before and they remain the sadder and wiser, and Bertie has made his debut. "Like father like son."

The cast was as follows: Marietta, maid of Mrs. Stewart, Gertrude Barthold Clara Stewart, wife of John Stewart, Gertrude LeBrandy Walter Watson, a friend of the family, Richard Earle John Stewart, banker, president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, recently elected a member of the "Society of Arts and Let- ters." Frank J. Kirk

Bertie Stewart, his son, Ward DeWolf Mary Peters, his niece May Gerald Percy Peters, her husband, W. F. Walsh Frederick Smith, a manufacturer of perfumes, also a major of the 37th New Jersey National Guard, True S. James.

Mignon, his wife "The Girl in the Taxi" Lucille Gardner Mademoiselle Irma, a vaudeville artist, Nan Ellis Rosie, her friend, an ex-chorus lady, Alexis, head waiter at Churchill's Cafe Kraft Walton Emile, one of his assistants, James Watson Policeman K. K. Rohner Dr. Paul Charles Pearson

The cast throughout is composed of clever actors and their artistic play- ing last night made a very good im- pression on the audience, especially "Bertie," who is an accomplished comedian. His acting, dancing, and singing was up to the standard, and while he was on the stage, the audience roared.

The play is well worth seeing and as another performance will be given tonight, another large audience is ex- pected to be on hand to witness "The Girl in the Taxi."

"THE NEST EGG." On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednes- day next theatregoers of this city will witness the first presentation in Lowell of Althe Caldwell's new play "The Nest Egg" at the Opera House, with Zelma Sears in the stellar role. It is a comedy creation of the semi-rural type, with the scene of the play laid in a small town called Eden Centre, near Albany, and has many quaint charac- ter studies in it, many odd bits of rural life, and many original and homely epigrams.

The story follows the experience of a middle aged spinster dressmaker, whose object in life is to keep the wolf from the door and get a husband. Through many vicissitudes and very narrow escapes she accomplishes both objects and emerges from her many predicaments in flying colors, though for a time she is dangerously near be- coming the scorn of the village where she makes her home. "The Nest Egg" has a cast of unusual excellence and comes direct from the Park Theatre, Boston.—Adv.

"THE NEWLYWEDS." Earl Knapp, the likable actor, is said to make little Napoleon an even funnier killing than McManus has ever created on paper. Napoleon's pretty mamma is played by Olga Von Hat- zfeldt, one of the prettiest and cleverest comedienne on the stage. Chas. A. Morgan, who is Mr. Newlywed, has the peculiar cast of countenance necessary for the proper portrayal of the Mc- Manus idea of what Da Da's papa ought to be.

There are 80 and 1/2 people in the organization of funmakers, 15 per cent. of which are girls. They appear here at the Opera House, Sept. 29 and 30, with Saturday matinee.—Adv.

HOW MANY MEN KEEP YOURSELF

(From The Social Register)
It is well known that within recent years the men have become extensive patrons of beauty specialists and mas- seurs. Not only the fastidious, but men generally who have a care for personal appearance. This has also led to the employment by many of means calculated to enhance or pre- serve physical attractiveness, espe- cially by those who abhor "beauty parlors."

Of these, perhaps the most widely used is ordinary mercurized wax—which explains the mystery of the silver-haired gentleman with the boyish face. The mercurized wax, obtainable at any drug-store, is ap- plied after shaving, the same as cold cream, only not rubbed in. This gradually absorbs the dead and half- dead cuticle in tiny particles, reveal- ing the fresher, healthier-lined skin beneath. To secure best results, men apply the wax at night, washing it off in the morning. Women not only en- courage husbands in this, but use the treatment themselves.

FOUND NOT GUILTY

Man Was Arraigned in Court on Charge of Assault

Stephanos Cutsakis was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault and battery on Christos Papanicolaou, but after a rather long drawn out hearing the court found the defendant not guilty and ordered him discharged. J. Joseph Hennessy appeared for the government and the defendant was represented by Daniel J. Donahue.

According to the testimony offered the complainant was passing through upper Market street about 4 o'clock on the afternoon of August 26th when he claimed Costas Exarhas crossed the street and after making a few remarks struck him once and then Cutsakis crossed the street and struck him three times. The witness testified that he was suffering from a broken arm and as a result of the blows received from the two men his arm was rebroken and he has been in the hospital ever since and may have to remain there several weeks longer. He was unable to explain why he was assaulted.

Shortly after the alleged assault occurred Cutsakis was placed under arrest but the other man, Exarhas, made his escape.

The court after considering the case found that the missing man was responsible for the assault and finding Cutsakis not guilty ordered that he be discharged.

Guilty of Trespass

Jeremiah D. Murphy was charged with drunkenness and trespassing on his father's property. The father testified that he had ordered the son to leave his place but the son refused to go. The defendant's sister stated that "Jerry" was always ugly when he was drunk and that he was also drunk when he had any money. She said that last Thursday night he threw her and her mother out of bed.

The defendant admitted that he had been ordered out of the house by his father, but said that later the father asked him to return. He was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $5 for being drunk, and relative to the case of trespass, although the court found him guilty he was placed in the custody of the probation officer for a term of three months.

Drunken Offenders

There were 11 drunks arrested and of that number four were released. William McCoy, an elderly man, was charged with being drunk, but owing to his advanced age the court suspended sentence in order to ascertain if the man could be cared for at the City hospital.

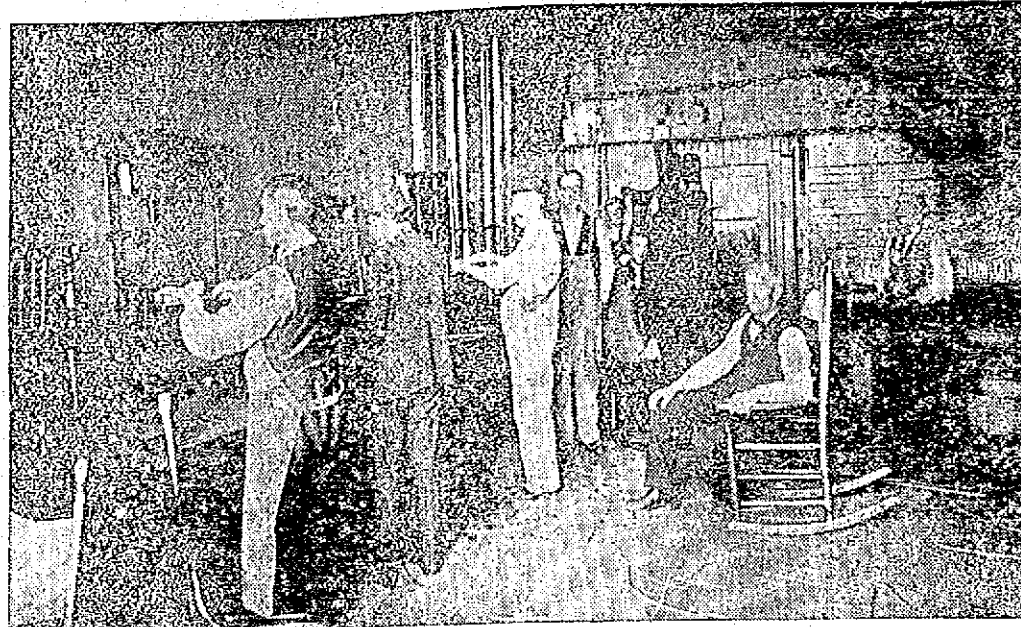

Marcel Tessier put up a battle when arrested for being drunk last night, and just for that he was fined $10.

Michael Burke was given a sentence of five months in jail. John O'Day was fined $5 and several first offenders were fined $2 each.

Violation of Milk Law

Frank L. Peabody was charged with having watered milk in his possession, but by agreement the hearing of the case was postponed until next Saturday.

BLIND MEN WORK

Some of Them Are Able to Earn Good Wages

The workshop for the blind, located at 213 Dutton street, is a very interesting industrial place. It is conducted under the auspices of the commission for the blind, the said commission being appointed by the governor of the state to serve without pay. The present commission is composed as follows: James P. Munroe, chairman; Miss Annette P. Rogers, Mrs. John T. Prince, Walter D. Snow, secretary, and Edward D. Allen.

The Lowell workshop was established on June 1, 1905, at 93 Central street, with two men. Business was so prosperous that a year ago last May, Mr. Harry G. Burke, the manager, had to look for larger quarters and the present location was secured. There are now nine men employed in the shop and their specialty is cane seating and mattress making, and it is estimated that 4000 pieces of work have been turned out of the establishment since it was organized. The men who toil daily in the shop are Patrick Brady, an old resident of this city; Frank A. Casey, Harry M. Jennings, Leopold Loupriet, James Lennox, who for years previous to his losing his sight was employed in the carpenter shop of the Merrimack mills; Arthur J. Mason of Tyngsboro, Louis M. Morse and William J. Walsh; Henry J. Burke, foreman.

The place does not pay its expenses, and it is not expected to do so, as the work is being done so cheap, and then again all is asked from the commission is that the employees pay for the stock which they get at cost price. The state pays the rent and all other expenses except for the stock. In a short time the broom industry will be started, providing someone can be secured to teach the blind men the work. The men work eight hours a day and their average pay is between $4 and $12 per week. When a man starts in the business he is helped a good deal by the state, for instance, if he makes two dollars a week, the state will allow him two more dollars and this is called the bonus. As quick as his earnings increase, the bonus diminishes and after a while the workman can earn enough to keep himself and three of them were so successful that they have taken unto themselves a wife.

A bookkeeper calls at the shop once a day and does the clerical work. Three of the employees have to be led to their work from their home, but the others are all able to walk around the streets without any trouble. The men in the shop are all happy and also very steady workers. They are kept busy almost the whole year and they turn out very good work. The work is delivered free of charge and an extremely low rate is asked for the work.

TWO FIREMEN INJURED

Explosion Followed By Fire in the Old Tiffany Building

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Fire swept through two floors of the old Tiffany building, 11-15 Union square, early today, causing $100,000 damage, injuring two firemen and endangering the lives of several others. The building is occupied by several manufacturing firms.

The fire started with an explosion which brought the guests out of two neighboring hotels in a panic, and caused a squad of detectives who had been rounding up sleepers in the parks to let about 20 prisoners escape while they rushed to the scene. The two injured firemen were cut off by falling glass. Four firemen were cut off by the flames on a fourth floor balcony when the hose they were carrying burst.

England states, the number being 133. Of the cities, Boston stands first, approximately one-seventh of the drowning accidents in Massachusetts occurring in waters of this city and its suburbs. The state of Maine ranks second with 71 victims. Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Hampshire and Vermont follow in the order named.

There were 16 double drownings, accidents and four triple drownings. A large proportion of the double drownings were caused by the overturning of boats occupied by persons who were unable to swim.

The abnormally hot weather during the first two weeks in July was the indirect cause of over one hundred deaths by drowning. With the mercury registering at and above the hundred mark, thousands of persons sought relief at the ocean and in the inland lakes and ponds, resulting in an unusual number of deaths. During the first 15 days of the month there was at least one drowning accident a day, and on July 2d there were 19 deaths from this cause, the largest in one day during the entire season.

Twelve sailors were drowned when a West Indian hurricane swept the New England coast during the latter part of July.

There were a few unusual drownings. As Miss Helen Williams of Richmond, Me., was unlocking the door of her home on August 30 she was seized with a fainting spell and fell into a tub of rain water. She was dead when found an hour later.

At Fitchburg, Mass., little Henry McCuskey fell into a tub of water while playing about the kitchen of his home and was drowned. Burns Hovey, a rural mail carrier of New Limerick, Me., was hurled from his team into a brook when his horse shied while passing over a bridge. His body was found in 13 inches of water, the man having been drowned before he had recovered consciousness after the shock.

On August 13, memorial exercises were held at Gloucester in memory of Gloucester fishermen who have been lost at sea within the past year. The number of dead this year is 25, somewhat larger than last year, but close to the average for the past five or six years.

LARCENY CHARGED

YOUNG WOMAN PLACED UNDER ARREST AGAIN

WORCESTER, Sept. 23.—Hope R. Flavel, aged 21, a handsome young woman who was indicted by the federal grand jury in Boston yesterday on a charge of raising a money order for $9 to $30, and who is out on bail, was arrested here yesterday by Capt. of Detectives Patrick O'Day on a charge of larceny of $125 worth of hats and dresses from Worcester department stores.

Capt. O'Day was making a search of the young woman's room in the Kenmore hotel, where she has been staying with her grandmother, when he received a message that the young woman was in one of the department stores. He went there and placed her under arrest, escorting her to police headquarters, where she was booked on a charge of larceny.

Some of the goods found by detective O'Day in her room have been identified by officials of the stores as stuff stolen from them. According to the police, the woman got a $45 hat in an unusual manner. They say she went into one of the stores and made a small purchase, asking the clerk for a big box she wanted for a special purpose. The clerk gave her the box, which she placed among the high-priced hats. While the clerk's attention was taken with another customer, it is charged Miss Flavel slipped the new hat into the box and then handed the box to the clerk, who wrapped it in paper and allowed her to walk off with it.

A SHOOTING AFFRAY

Two Persons Killed and Two Others Were Wounded

MADILL, Okla., Sept. 23.—Tom Rorie, liverman, and L. L. Reed, carpenter, dead; T. C. Thomas of Kingston, Okla., and an unidentified youth wounded, are the net results of a shooting affray in a crowded circus tent here early today. Rorie, it is stated, objected to Reed's show of authority. Reed had been deputized as a special officer for the day—and a dispute culminated in both men drawing weapons. Rorie and Reed fell mortally wounded. The other victims were bystanders.

THIRTY-FIVE AVIATORS

To Take Part in Big Meet at Garden City

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—With 35 aviators, among them four women, tuning up their aeroplanes and making short test flights, all was in readiness today for the international aviation meet, which was scheduled to start at 2 o'clock this afternoon with a passenger-carrying race between monoplanes, and continue for nine days on a field on the Nassau boulevard, Garden City.

Approximately $50,000 in prizes are to be distributed during the meet.

The management announced today that the Wright brothers who claim a controlling interest on airships, had conceded the meet at the last moment and would send aviators to take part in the contests. This reassured many of the aviators who feared suits.

The first aerial postal services to be duly authorized by the United States post office department was to be inaugurated this afternoon from the field. A regular branch post office has been established on the field, with a number of postal clerks, and the department has designed a new postmark stamp which will be placed on each letter. This reads that it is a "special aerial service" from "Aerial Station No. 1, Garden City, L. I." Captain Paul W. Peck proposes to make two flights daily, carrying about 20,000 letters each day. He will take them from the field to some post office on Long Island or to Governor's Island, from where the aerial mail will be transferred to the regular postal routes and forwarded to its destination. Postmaster General Hitchcock has announced that he would witness this aerial delivery on Monday.

ECZEMA CAME FROM TEETHING

Watery Festers Dried in Scabs. Would Dig and Scratch Her Face. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and Was Cured.

"When my little girl was about eight months old, she was taken with a very irritating breaking out, which came on her face, neck and back. When she first came down with it, it came in little watery-like festers under her eyes, and on her chin, then after a few days it would dry down in scaly, white scabs. In the daytime she was quite worrisome and would dig and scratch her face nearly all the time."

"I consulted our physician and found she was suffering from eczema, which he said came from her teething. I used the ointment he gave me and without any relief at all. Then I wrote for a book on Cuticura, and purchased some Cuticura Soap and Ointment at the drugstore. I did as I found directions in the Cuticura Booklet, and when she was one year old, she was entirely cured. Now she is three years and four months, and she has never been troubled with eczema since she was cured by the Cuticura Soap and Ointment."

(Signed) Mrs. Freeman Craver, 311 Lewis St., Syracuse, N. Y., May 6, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, but to those who have tried the usual remedies and found them wanting, and who have lost faith in everything, a liberal sample of each, with 32 p. book on how to use it, will be sent free, on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 2A, Boston, Mass.

LIEUT. FOULOIS

PLACED IN CHARGE OF NEW BRANCH MILITIA AFFAIRS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Lieut. Benjamin D. Foullois, who has been on duty at San Antonio, Tex., patrolling the Mexican border, as a signal corps air scout, will have charge of the new branch militia affairs under the war department. He will assume his new duties next week. About 30 of the states now have signal corps as part of their military establishment and the chiefs will report direct to Lieut. Foullois.

328 LIVES LOST

In the Waters of New England During the Summer

BOSTON, Sept. 23.—The waters of New England claimed 328 victims by accidental drowning during the summer season which ended today. Of this number 181 bathers went to their deaths, 114 fell from boats, and 31 slipped from insecure places into the water. But 19 persons lost their lives as a result of falling from canoes. Of the deaths in boating and canoeing accidents, rocking the boat or canoe was the cause of but a very small percentage. More persons were drowned in Massachusetts than in any of the other New
